Thread: Monero Award?

Omniscient - September 2, 2016, 1:07 pm

Should I bother adding a Monero award to HF and the option to buy upgrades with XMR (Monero)?

Had at least 2 members mention it to me.

Wings of Redemption - September 2, 2016, 1:08 pm

Yes. Allows more people to show off their dedication to HF.

The Canadian - September 2, 2016, 1:08 pm

No, its just another fad and its not going to much in a couple months from now.
ETH is already fading away...

minimalist - September 2, 2016, 1:09 pm

Do it. It's here to stay with real adopters and real merchants accepting it. Even better than ETH in my opinion.

Grim - September 2, 2016, 1:09 pm

I think it's a great idea. We could always use more awards why not.

Undefined - September 2, 2016, 1:12 pm

Add it. It's bigger than ETH at the moment & it's obviously much different than other cryptocurrencies. I think it's worth adding it.

boost - September 2, 2016, 1:12 pm

Yes, that would be awesome!

I don't believe it will fade as it solves a problem for dark markets. Bitcoin ledger is too public for some and the excessive use of mixers is a problem. BTC addresses now get flagged by exchanges and can get accounts closed.

XMR isn't going anywhere. What is an issue is ETH and how they screwed up their chain with a fork. I'm still rooting for ETH but I think they will need a lot of time to recover and that's providing they aren't supplanted by a better alt-coin.

If given a choice of what technology I preferred I'd go with XMR over BTC or ETH at this point.

J?son - September 2, 2016, 1:15 pm

Adding a monero award and allowing it for upgrades would make people purchase XMR coins, thus adding more coins to circulation and pumping up the value.

It would be a smart move to allow it on HF.

If given a choice of what technology I preferred I'd go with XMR over BTC or ETH at this point. ETH made their move due to devs being huge bagholders (losers) due to the hack...their greed is what forced the fork. They weren't man enough to accept the loss for their mistake.

Every altcoin is different in each way. If they serve the same purpose as an already existing coin than why would it surpass the original?

People see altcoins, e.g Monero, ETH, Bitcoin as competing coins, when really they should be used in conjunction with each other to serve their each individual purposes.

Btw, did you hear about Winklevoss's opening up ETH into their trading platform?

I think literally any new award that you make will be supported, it doesn't matter what currency its in people will find ways to get it.

I know I'd buy it if it becomes available and I've never heard of Monero before. Probably the same with many others.

The point is to support a coin that is growing and in a sense aware and inform people about it... Not purely so omni makes more money. If this was the case he would just add a heap of new paid awards every few days.

ohxerxe - September 2, 2016, 1:26 pm

Yeah, but CoinPayments (the autopayment website that Hack Forums uses to process awards, upgrades, and purchases) doesn't support it. Omniscient could set up a workaround to charge $x BTC but that destroys the whole point of the award.

Omni do you have any plans on setting up your own server with the coins daemons that you accept? Would take away the .5% CP fee as well as allow you to accept coins such as monero with ease. Need a little bit of time and server knowledge though. Will make the processing of awards a lot faster and also make them onsite to.

Elegant - September 2, 2016, 1:49 pm

Yes! Add it onto HF. I'd like to buy it and get another award on my profile. Price it at $20 like the others.

Was reading about this coin couple of weeks ago. Very interesting stuff. Which Bitcoin was more like this...however, Bitcoin is already big enough and it would be a pain the ass to probably have all the online coin users switch over to this from big boss Bitcoin...Look at it this way, as a concept like Facebook vs Ello (another former popular Facebook rival that was short lived).

I'd probably wait until the coin's popularity increases before adding an award.

this is a terrible comparison and not how this shit works at all and it's not a pain in the ass at all i can exchange btc to xmr blindly on shapeshift.io or poloniex and why would you advise implementation when it's more popular, it makes no sense. the more affordable it is (right now) the more coins are to be made on the receiver's end - so it's most profitable to accept the currency right now. actually, it would have been better last week because fourfold the money would have been made, but it's never too late.

I KNEW this was going to happen. After reading this thread a few weeks ago I figured it was only a matter of time. Just another award to collect now hehe. Grats to everyone who already has it.

I'm getting this error when I try purchasing the award. DNS issues?

I tried using ShapeShift like I did for my other awards too. My BTC transaction is currently still waiting to be confirmed, and has been for 40 min now.

Just for everyone who is going to use ShapeShift, maybe try a higher fee or get your award via someone that already has XMR.

There are over 29000 unconfirmed transactions now.

Edit: Seems like my BTC transaction is completed and shapeshift sent the XMR. :)

Hahaha! A very smart and well executed move for adding this. Hopefully you don't catch me up on holdings! Goodluck ;)

Evanescence - November 23, 2016, 7:10 am

Nice little addition will help the site running.

ZuGgY - November 23, 2016, 4:31 pm

Congratulations on the implementation.

Poloniex imo would be your best bet. I'd use them over shapeshift any day.

thrudda - December 8, 2016, 2:34 am

I tried to use Monero but looks like there's no GUI based wallet available ?

Vittorio - December 8, 2016, 2:35 am

Good idea on adding the Monero Award! seems to be having a lot of positive feedback on it overall. Also a nice way to get the name more out there to those who may not have any idea what the currency is. Again thank you for adding it :)

XMR isn't going anywhere. What is an issue is ETH and how they screwed up their chain with a fork. I'm still rooting for ETH but I think they will need a lot of time to recover and that's providing they aren't supplanted by a better alt-coin.

If given a choice of what technology I preferred I'd go with XMR over BTC or ETH at this point. Very nice explanation, and i totaly agree with you Omni

Yes, do it.
