Thread: [200\$+ in Prizes - Black Ops 3 1v1 Tournament \[REGISTRATION OPEN\]](#)

Views - September 6, 2016, 7:37 am

Registration ends Wednesday at 4 P.M. EST

To commemorate the return of Titans, its group leaders have teamed up with Synergy to host a Call Of Duty: Black Ops III 1 vs. 1 tournament exclusively for PlayStation 4 and Xbox One players. Not interested? Stop right there! A prize pool of $100 per console and a CoD Caster Stream on Twitch will give you all the bragging rights you need!

Tournament Rules

Every match will be streamed live through Twitch at [SynergyTwitchChannel], with at least one event staff to spectate the match.

Any competitors who attempt to use specific tools or methods that are considered by event coordinators to be illegal/barred/cheating will be blacklisted from all future Titans events and be removed from the tournament, if caught. This also includes glitching, hacking, and bribing. It is highly advised for competitors to get in touch with the tournament coordinators (group leaders) to receive a much detailed clarification regarding this rule.

Prizes will be distributed in the form of Bitcoins. It is the responsibility of the player/winner to own a secure Bitcoin address. The event coordinators will not be responsible for what happens to the Bitcoins after it is sent to the player's address.

Once the tournament bracket has filled up, future entries will not be allowed unless competitors who are in the bracket drop out for some reason. If something like this does happen, there will be a wait list from which the members in the list would be required to fill in the empty spot. The list starts from the person who signed up at the earliest.

Regarding any connection issues; if players begin to lag within 30 seconds with the commencement of the match or before 3 kills (whichever comes first), the round will be abruptly stopped and a new host will be selected. If the issue still persists, the event coordinators will decide what to do in accordance to the situation.

Match Rules

10 Minutes, 30 Kills, Free for All

Map Rotation: Combine, Fringe, Nuk3town

Radar Always On

NO Ghost

NO Smoke Grenades

NO Specialist Abilities and Weapons

NO Killstreaks

Tournament Prizes

1st Place >> $75 + Invite to Titans OR Synergy

2nd Place >> $25 + Invite to Titans OR Synergy

3rd Place >> Invite to Titans OR Synergy

possible surprises prizes will be implemented, depending on which opportunities arise.

Registration will be open for atleast one week, hopefully that'll be enough time we will be buying stickes to promote this event as soon as Omniscient is online to sell them, the official tournament brackets will be posted, with time/date of the tournament once the brackets fill.

SuicideSquad - September 6, 2016, 7:52 am can you pm or message me on discord with the bracket? and what happens if someone doesn't show up within the 5 minute time frame? do they get disqualified?

As mentioned in the thread, there may be other prizes given out to random competitors in this tournament. Joining just to have fun and meet new people is also a nice motivator as well ?

Yes, we will be having events in the future in collaboration with Synergy for both PS4 & Xbox One. We do plan on creating some PC tournaments, though with PC's being so easy to cheat on, we just didn't feel like including all of the headache of the PC platform for this first tournament.

Keep the sign-ups coming guys!

(Sep 6, 2016 03:19 PM)Danny Khalifa Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why there is nothing for PC?
I would join that!

PC games tend to come with a lot of cheaters/hackers. Since this is our first tournament and we wanted things to go as smoothly as possible, we decided to leave the PC community out of this first tournament.

But keep an eye out for a PC included event in the future as we do want to include the PC gaming community :)

As explained in the thread, we will attempt to find new hosts so that the two players can compete fairly. If it doesn't work no matter what we try, then we may have to find other solutions that can be discussed as needed.

Yeah I would've preferred that too. FFA without radar on usually leads to dumb hide-and-seek matches. At least with Hardpoint there's an objective to go after, same with SnD.

Realizm - September 7, 2016, 8:44 pm

There will be more tournaments to come, so the chances of having different Black Ops 3 tournaments such as SnD is very much a possibility in the future.

as of right now, we're thinking it'll take place next weekend, on Friday Saturday & Sunday depending on how long it takes to go through the matches, as of right now we've got about 15 PS4 players and 14 Xbox One players, it'll be bracket organized so we'll have to contact players to get them to play against each other, but we're hoping to have the matches being played fluently on those days, match after another rather than pauses inbetween matches.

Confound - September 9, 2016, 4:55 pm

You should implement a rule that if a user who is scheduled for a match doesn't arrive within a 30 minute period that they forfeit their match. This will allow for a steady progression of the tournament. I can only imagine how complicated it would be trying to hunt down players that are scheduled for certain times if they are away or offline.

Can't express how important this is ^ especially on a wild community like the one we have.

When i was playing competitive call fo duty on ESL we always had 5 main players and 5 to replace them if anything like a bad internet connection or someone being late...etc happen... That way we didnt have to forfeit a match everytime someone wasnt there in time Might participate when I get my new internet. Need that warrior connection.

Will there be something similar for those of us who play PC? (Obviously it probably wouldn't be COD, but you get my point.)

Realizm - September 12, 2016, 7:06 pm

Yes, we are discussing PC gaming tournaments as well :)

Good. Hopefully you guys will be able to spot the hackers. I know for a fact that there's a couple of people around here that used to hack in tournaments and make bank winning them all
