Thread: are you very skilled at editing photos in photoshop? here's a job for you! <<<<<<<<<

nerd_beater - September 4, 2016, 6:41 pm

need someone very skilled at editing pictures, not making new gfx like logos etc. i have a large number of pictures (they are real photographs of an item) and they all need one small thing changed about them. pretty much one word that needs to be changed to something else on each picture, some have a couple in each pic. there are 90 pictures. this will take someone pretty talented. many of the pictures are different lighting/angles etc. it needs to be done good so even when zooming in you can't really notice. i will decide on the person who gets the job based on their skill editing the sample pics and the price of their quote. you'll be sent 2 sample pictures and you can change the text to whatever you want.

post your quote in the thread, do not pm me or you will be ignored. i can't send pms so post your skype name in your reply or pm me your skype name after you've posted your quote.

starting quote $20

Hard to state a quote when I don't know exactly what this job entails and how much time it will take. But I am interested in doing this job.

Add me on skype: zetzadesigns

However $20 for 90 images is low balling

I think he meant that it's the start but I do get your point. This is low balling at best.

You want someone very skilled,

Quote: this will take someone pretty talented. many of the pictures are different lighting/angles etc. it needs to be done good so even when zooming in you can't really notice. and based on that you want the work of a professional.

Bump up your starting quote and some might consider.
