Thread: List of websites that have XMLRPC functionality

Syracusia - September 5, 2016, 12:15 am

Hello,

I am selling list of websites that have XMLRPC functionality.

I can find thousands of unique XMLRPC websites everyday.

Contact me for purchasing list

I will sell the scanner for $250 (it can be used on any computer even a home computer and it's completely anonymous)

It's a mix of three scripts and the way it scans I can not say; but the results speak for themselves.

I know this is being sold from a ddos perspective but these also seem useful for amplified cracking attacks since xmlrpc allows you to check multiple passwords in a single http request.

Lol you don't know a single thing about what any of my customers use these for. Even I don't know

Usually xmlrpc scanners are used in reflected ddos attacks so aside from that and amplified cracking attacks not much else I can think of im just throwing out an idea for people that get these lists im just basing my post on what the general population uses xmlrpc for but you are right im unsure what all stuff people use these for I just noticed xmlrpc and decided to post because I did a thread about amplified brutng.

how big is the list you are selling?

I'm amused that you'd attempt to sell the scanner for $250, I'm just assuming that it's coded in C#? Than you say "and it's completely anonymous"... mind elaborating?

why would u pay $250 when you could just scan the internet for common files in the wordpress structure

Please don't speculate about the usage pal if you want to think you do that in your head not on my thread

Yeah it uses an advanced proxy system so your server doesn't get suspended

sourdiesel87 - September 5, 2016, 12:08 pm

How much are you selling the list for?

Killer992 - September 5, 2016, 4:09 pm

No way this is worth $250, sorry bud.
