Snitch

VeloCityMods - September 5, 2016, 2:39 pm

if you wanna know why i have 1 matching IP lmk. Lol shoot me a pm on skype.

Besides that If your doing like $15 BTC. Instead of epic since i already got it lmk thanks man :)
(if someone that already has it wins)

Cheers.

Regulus - September 5, 2016, 2:39 pm

Very nice of you to do this. I feel like doing this as well now.

Ok, nice to know, I want someone to upgrade me to admin though.

GloryToBe - September 5, 2016, 2:40 pm

Lmao no regular member has posted yet.

Riyu - September 5, 2016, 2:41 pm

WHERE ARE ALL THE REGULAR MEMBERS ARE

Night - September 5, 2016, 2:41 pm

This is very nice of you, but you will need to post it in the correct sub forum. We recommend you take the time to read the HF Help Documents section. The answer to your questions should be contained in there.

What the fuck did you just fucking say about me, you little bitch? I'll have you know I graduated top of my class in the Navy Seals, and I've been involved in numerous secret raids on Al-Quaeda, and I have over 300 confirmed kills. I am trained in gorilla warfare and I'm the top sniper in the entire US armed forces. You are nothing to me but just another target. I will wipe you the fuck out with precision the likes of which has never been seen before on this Earth, mark my fucking words. You think you can get away with saying that shit to me over the Internet? Think again, fucker. As we speak I am contacting my secret network of spies across the USA and your IP is being traced right now so you better prepare for the storm, maggot. The storm that wipes out the pathetic little thing you call your life. You're fucking dead, kid. I can be anywhere, anytime, and I can kill you in over seven hundred ways, and that's just with my bare hands. Not only am I extensively trained in unarmed combat, but I have access to the entire arsenal of the United States Marine Corps and I will use it to its full extent to wipe your miserable ass off the face of the continent, you little shit. If only you could have known what unholy retribution your little "clever" comment was about to bring down upon you, maybe you would have held your fucking tongue. But you couldn't, you didn't, and now you're paying the price, you goddamn idiot. I will shit fury all over you and you will drown in it. You're fucking dead, kiddo.

I'm sorry. It's something that I say a lot, if you're around me. I apologize, usually with a little nervous laugh, probably because I stepped into your path or I accidentally interrupted you. I might say it if I accidentally touch your arm. But I'm more likely to apologize, sometimes in a very blurring, slightly explosive way, if you say you like something that I don't like. Or if we share different opinions on something. I sometimes apologize for my quirks, like my irrational hatred for birds. And I don't know why I constantly apologize. I don't know why my default is to say I'm sorry.

I've said before that apologies start to mean nothing when you say you're sorry all the time. And I've heard the stereotype about Canadians, that we never stop apologizing for just being us. But I have noticed, as I've gotten older, that I have an inherent nervousness that I feel like I have to apologize for. I have noticed that my apologies, while genuine, are also knee-jerk reactions that I throw out when I'm around people, especially people I want to impress. I've noticed that my natural shyness, that I struggle with daily to bury under an exterior of confidence and friendliness, betrays me when I apologize constantly. It tells everyone around me that I'm still struggling with self-confidence, with self-worth. I know this stuff . . . and I'm sorry.

I know inherently that there's not one person in this world who doesn't feel wrong-footed and awkward at least sometimes. The problem is that I feel that way a lot. I feel paranoid, like the world thinks I'm stupid and can see right through me. I feel like when I brag, or I nervously blurt out a lot of facts and information that I find interesting but others don't, that everyone wishes I would shut up and go away. And when you have anxiety, like I do, this is your brain's constant lie. The fact is, no one cares about how you appear because no one is even thinking about you. Everyone is concentrated on themselves. I've been through the cognitive behavioural therapy journey and I can usually explain these things away to myself.

Except that it comes out when I apologize. I'm sorry.

I used to stammer when I was nervous. Not badly and certainly not prohibitively, but it would happen and I'd cringe every time. I'm sorry. It sometimes still happens, when I talk to upper management or when I meet someone new. I'm sorry. When I was little, I used to be unable to Speak to anyone new at first, because my shyness would paralyze my tongue. I don't do that anymore, but when I'm called on how quiet I am in certain settings, I remember being asked why the cat always had my tongue. I'm sorry. I used to twitch and shake my hands when I was nervous or excited. It was a habit I was gently and cutely made fun of for by my family and close friends. I still do it sometimes unconsciously when I'm excited or nervous now. I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I'm sorry.

Anxiety is this beast that sits right over your forehead and turns your head back and forth, showing you things you don't want to see. Things that aren't really there. And with the clarity of getting older and learning to deal with shyness and anxiety, I've realized that my anxiety lies. So, I'm working on this knee-jerk apologizing.

I'm sorry. I'm sorry that I apologize all the time for things I don't have to apologize for. That I've made you think that I'm someone who doesn't deserve to take pride in her accomplishments and her intelligence. I'm sorry that I've made you think that the mistakes that I make are life-threatening and life-changing, that they're things that can't be fixed and that are the end of the world. I'm sorry that my self-confidence is low and that I feel like I have to apologize for that. I'm sorry for apologizing for having my own opinions. I'm sorry that I apologize for nothing and everything, because doing so might make me more likeable, or cooler, or more normal. I'm sorry that I apologize for quirks that I have, that might be annoying, or might be stupid, or might be nothing at all because everyone has quirks and that's okay.

I'm sorry, self, that I've made you think you need to constantly apologize for being YOU. You are a pretty cool person no matter what anyone thinks. And the big thing is, they're not thinking about you half as much as you think about yourself and how you appear to the world.

So let's stop apologizing. Apologize when you've hurt someone. Apologize when you've made a mistake that has caused someone pain or suffering in any way. Apologize when you're wrong and strive to be better next time. Mean your apologies. Make them genuine.

Because I'm really NOT sorry that I am the way I am. My anxiety just likes to make me think that I should be. And my anxiety is wrong.

I'm not wrong for existing. And I'm not going to apologize for it anymore.
