Thread: 1 year in jail / 3 months in prison

Splendid - September 8, 2016, 1:56 pm

Would you rather be serving a one year sentence in a PD Jail (Mostly laxed, low population, temporary for the most part, for you it's a year sentence though)

Or 3 months in prison (The harshest in your state, assrape and being murdered is possible.)

Refusal - September 8, 2016, 1:57 pm

3 months in prison.

Because at the end of the day time is money, and I wouldn't want 1 year as opposed to 3 months being taken from me.

Coon and Friends - September 8, 2016, 1:58 pm

One year, my beautiful ass would get ruined in a real prison, definately not what I'm after

YayHar - September 8, 2016, 1:58 pm

1 year in jail.

I know people here are going to pretend to be big and bad, but I know I'll get my ass handed to me if 4 people jump me.

You're facing the possibility of being murdered and assraped.

3 months in prison, prison is prison and there's no such thing as "laxed"

If I die i die, i cant spend 1 year in a shit whole us prison

PD Jails are not prisons, though, and they're definitely more relaxed.

Steve - September 8, 2016, 2:01 pm

Never been to either, but I may have to opt for 1 year in jail. 3 months in the harshest prison in the state would probably do more damage to me than 1 year in jail.

W?lf - September 8, 2016, 2:01 pm

I rather spend a year on a chill prison then get raped or even killed on the second option

Checkmark - September 8, 2016, 2:01 pm

I don't want to be raped, shanked, or eat shit food in prison. Usually you get sent to prison for a federal crime as allowed to a misdemeanor for jail.

1 year in jail obviously.

Well, PD Jails are usually always guarded, so no one can really harm you, but it's an entire year. ?

I highly doubt someone will "assrape" me or try to "murder" me while I'm in real prison. Is it a possibility ofcourse, but this isn't Hollywood or a movie, real prison isn't like what you see in the movies. Yes there are some crazy prisons out there, but most of them are not in the US.

Prison

Not everyone that enters gets ass raped and murdered. Then again my state does house one of the worst super prisons in the country.

That's assuming you don't get more time or aren't forced into a mental institution/therapy after your sentence.

Clint Beastwood - September 8, 2016, 2:12 pm

Guys the solution is pick 3 months in prison and never wipe yo ass, then word will spread amongst the rapists and they'll be like nono leave that nigga alone he dont wipe his ass

hugsyou - September 8, 2016, 2:13 pm

Anyone who says prison, hasn't been jail.

puas.pw - September 8, 2016, 2:16 pm

I prefer a one year sentence in a PD Jail. It is less worse. With the other option the risk of dying doesn't worth it, even with a lower sentence.

Persecute - September 8, 2016, 2:20 pm

Seems a better option, it's a long term thing but at least you don't get sodomized.

donalen - September 9, 2016, 2:05 am

3 months of prison for sure.

You people do know that in prison, you can request solitary confinement right? Just go there, request solitary. 99 percent of the time you receive it. If not, just cause some problems and get assigned to solitary for the 3 months.

If you go lookup online what people have said (people who have been both to county jail and prison) regarding comparisons between the two, almost unanimously people have agreed that jail is much much worse.

jail:

1. Most county jails have almost no recreation at all. You are on lockdown 23-24 hours a day.
2. Most jails offer no tv, books, or any form of entertainment whatsoever.
3. You share your cell with 5-6 people sometimes in county jails.
4. Most jails offer much less of a chance to visit family. Some places only offer one 10 minute phone call per week. Prisons sometimes offer daily visitation.

The reason for these points above, is that jails are designed for people serving sentences of less than 1 year. They don't offer nearly the same amount of services as a prison, designed to hold people long term.

County jail isn't this "chill" experience most people here think it is. There are some county jails in the United States that have higher rape percentages than any prison out there.

You're probably just as likely to be raped in jail, and according to this, you have to serve a longer sentence. On top of that, you would be in a room with possibly 5 other people or more, with no recreation or anything to do whatsoever, and minimal visitation. Fuck that.

Fidel Castro - September 9, 2016, 2:16 am

3 months, thats appereantly nothing..

But that strict regime is kinda awful, well after you get out from the jail you fear nothing.

1 year in the "easy" jail.
Why?

Because putting me between assrapers and murderers would push me into defending myself, by acting like a crazy men.. Biting someone's ear off, poke their eyes out with a stick or just kill a man by bashing his head against the cell toilet.

That would only cause for more trouble, which will extend my sentence.. So rather 1 year without a fight/kill, than defending myself and keep extending my jail time until I'm dead/mentally fucked ?

S?arlet - September 11, 2016, 2:02 am

You're fuckin stupid, you don't know anything about jail or prison.

First of all it's not possible serving 3 months in prison, second of all prison is much more comfortable with all the freedoms given to inmates for the longer terms they're serving. Such as activities, time spent outside, educational services, better food and more options in commissary

Jail has none of that, you sit out your time in a cell, eat the shitty catfood they give you and wait for the day you breathe fresh air again

I've been to jail, but hey don't take it from me. I've met ex prison cons that ended up in jail and say the conditions in jail are unbearable compared to prison

Now as for the inmates, if you're a little fuckin bitch you won't thrive anywhere regardless of the time or where you're convicted. But if you can hold your own then prison is just another playground.

A smart man ends up in neither if he can avoid it
