You contact Byte Crypter. 10 year olds have brains.

They usually send you an email with the download link and serial. Check your Inbox/Spam folder.

you wont. the creator knew the licensing system would stop working but wasnt able to get a new one, despite the fact his crypter is the mostly used one (and because of that hes after 3 days back to 10/35)

You will need to wait for the owner to come back.

Is byte crypter working? I also bought a package and I haven't received the download or serial yet, of course I already contacted the seller but I was furious that I maybe got scammed. Does it still work?

What would you recommend?

I won't advice you visit their page, they're going to tell you they can't find the transaction code in their database, only a fool will pay twice for nothing. Any real crypter out there. These people are probably the feds trying to get into your computer, don't click any links they send you.
