

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: closed closed closed closed

!?! ?? ???? - September 10, 2016, 7:58 pm

closed closed closed closed

Mr Meeseeks - September 10, 2016, 8:02 pm

I am not exactly an expert in this, but I might be able to help if you could send some screenshots of the websites, if they pop up and start talking to you and have a big message about a virus, or a 800 number, or free things, it is probably some sort of Adware or Malware. I would first recommend going to your programs and features and then look for any weird programs that you do not remember installing, then I would go into task manager and end and record/screenshot any suspicious programs or background tasks running, then check out your startup applications from task manager and then look for any weird programs in there. Just send me a PM and I can see if I could help more

!?! ?? ???? - September 10, 2016, 8:08 pm

(Sep 10, 2016 08:02 PM)Mr Meeseeks Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I am not exactly an expert in this, but I might be able to help if you could send some screenshots of the websites, if they pop up and start talking to you and have a big message about a virus, or a 800 number, or free things, it is probably some sort of Adware or Malware. I would first recommend going to your programs and features and then look for any weird programs that you do not remember installing, then I would go into task manager and end and record/screenshot any suspicious programs or background tasks running, then check out your startup applications from task manager and then look for any weird programs in there. Just send me a PM and I can see if I could help more

I am getting websites like these pop up

<http://prntscr.com/cglysc>

Mr Meeseeks - September 10, 2016, 8:18 pm

I sent you a PM back, dunno if you got it.