Fuck Hillary. She's a fucking robot. I don't know, but something about her just makes me have a weird feeling inside. I feel like she's a fucking demon or something. Just look at her pictures and you'll probably feel the same. Donald Trump will actually do something to help America, including deporting the fucking useless immigrants that came here illegally.

Roger Waters - September 11, 2016, 9:33 am

She is clearly unfit to be President with all of her medical issues that have been seen over the past few months. We should have a President who has been given a clean bill of health who won't die during his or her term.

Being ill means she is unfit to be president. The last thing the US needs is a leader in denial about his/her own health issues. It could put the nation at risk.

But I guess she could've been feeling bad this morning and felt she needed to push ahead and attend that memorial anyway and the result was having a fainting spell on camera. So up comes the issue of her health again. 67 years old. She's in that "senior citizen" zone. Fainting. Weakness. Falling. Concussions. Memory problems, too. Just something else to think about.
Overheating was the media cover up stories, her body temp was probably fine

Is she really in good enough condition to be a president? Surely the stress of that job will bring on more things like this? Idk though

Most stressful job in the world, the Clinton foundation just needs her to survive long enough for the vote to happen
