"Can I have a small trial to test your service?"

Unfortunately at this time I am not offering free trials for this service. Perhaps in the future I will make this a possibility.

"I paid but haven't received an email yet"

It can often take up to 2 hours for a payment to be processed and confirmed, and it may sometimes be sent to your spam folders. If you still have not received an email, please let me know. Please understand that coinpayments has a rather tedious confirmation system for both PayPal and Bitcoin, just be patient. If after 2-3 hours nothing shows up, please contact me.

Im paid you 1 month to test it .

I put a review later

Edit.

Not too good for cracking , need a auto update feature and a direct link to obtain the Proxys.

But good frontend of the web, and easy to use.

Vouch.

Just bought this and wasn't please I can't choose the socks from a certain country.

Once the list has been generated, all proxies is placed in a single file which I am not looking for so hence why I requested a refund, but no response yet from the OP...

I didn't even use any of the socks yet so I hope they can give me a refund since I just bought this today.

I message the OP my email to get this refunded back, let's see how it goes. Will update on this thread later.

I've PM'd you back sir. Its a planned feature and is being worked on now. As a note most buyers should ask all pertinent questions prior to purchasing.

2SLickZ - November 8, 2016, 10:29 pm

Of course I won't be refunded because I didn't ask him the "appropriate" questions before buying.

How would I know what to ask when his website shows proxies from each countries and how many they currently have so I thought we could choose, but guess not.

Told him I would buy it again once he added the feature, and to just refund me for now since I didn't even use his service at all because I have no use for it since I'm looking to get proxies from the country of my choice, but now he's just ignoring my message.

What a "great" premium quality proxy service I'm getting, lol. Can't even get a refund of $6.49 back when I have no use for this service at all and I just bought it today. Pathetic.

Some providers offer different types of proxies for different needs. Meaning that some proxies may be better for one thing and less better for another. That's why we offer monthly plans, if you like what you get then continue paying and if not then you can stop. A proxy is a proxy in my book, it all depends on if the proxiea we offer fill your needs.

Also - premium proxies? How come the error is telling me to hit someone up at freeproxies.cn?

I am well aware of what he is stating you illiterate fuck. I answer most posts with a private message as well.

If you plan to post on my threads with your trash, please at least use proper grammar and conventions.

We both know my service is superior to any of those offered on Hackforums at the moment, including the garbage you are trying to sell. My proxies are not public and are updated with only working proxies hourly, so I am unsure where you are getting your facts from.

Not too impressed at all with your service, only a couple proxies were working when I tested all the UK / US.

Not good enough, would pay to buy private proxies instead for the same cost.

Would like a refund, if this service is as trusted as you believe it is, you would offer your customers a refund if they're not happy, else that means you're uncertain yourself about the services you're offering.

PS purchased this access yesterday.

There really shouldn't be any duplicates unless there is some bug in the code. I just ran the list through a duplicate checker and found 0.

Maybe something messed up earlier but it shouldn't have. Try again and get back to me with the results. Always happy to help and get all problems resolved.

That was going to be my next question. For some reason several users report the proxies do not work with AccountReaper. For some reason it detects them all as bad, but if you use a different checker they come back as working. Not sure what gives as it doesn't make any sense to me.

You get all the proxies on site. They are updated hourly with working ones. Remember though, these are shared, these are not private dedicated proxies.

Well this embarrassing. We were looking at the db and we saw that we had much more sock5s then sock4s, but the graph was always reporting that we had more sock4s. Looked into it and the strings were opposite of each other. Fixed it and now the graph should update with more sock 5s.

NewZealand - August 25, 2017, 11:21 am

We had a issue overnight where our proxy server went offline. Long story short , everything is back up and working. Even better, during the redeployment we found ways to optimize the service. Expect more changes in the near future that will increase the proxy count.

As SJ pointed out , it's just bad phrasing. To clarify and add-on, it means we do not just find premade lists that are publicly available and just sell those. We scrape, check and sort all of our proxies our self.
