Thread: [How do I prevent that my video gets removed \[YOUTUBE\]](#)

RBH - September 17, 2016, 4:38 am

Hello,

I have a video in the Pokemon GO niche which is still up after a couple weeks. It is just basically a fake generator site However now I have a made a new video for a different niche but that one almost immediately got flagged and removed (a couple hours after uploading). Does anyone have any tips on how to prevent this?

Hey.

What kinda link are you using in the description.

You are best keeping you video private, boosting it then releasing it.

People can flag it and with not many views, comment or likes it goes down instantly.

Send me your Skype if you want help ?

Regards

Try and buy a .com .info .org

If not use - <https://my.freenom.com>

you can get .ga .cl .ml free i use them and had no issues with videos get banned

Just don't put a link in the description ...

Put a watermark with your website in the video and you won't get flagged

Some people have autoflag bots on some niches to boost their own earnings

That was my idea too, but I didn't do it because I was scared to lose conversions. But I will start doing it now!

Damm that is mean, but since I have a really unsaturated niche (for now) I dont think that is the case

keep it private so that youtube doesnt detect it
