Thread: First EVER Photoshop project No Tutorials \(Just got Photoshop today\)

alnoise - September 17, 2016, 8:14 pm

Just thought I would share this. It is supposed to represent that there is other life out there that live like we do. I don't know I just really felt like giving Photoshop a try :)

Ayeee that's not bad at all! I see you're into photo manipulation. Certainly did better than I did when I first started haha, ofc not saying im an all experienced ps user :)

Fortrix - September 18, 2016, 4:43 am

Looks pretty dope considering you just started

Adob? - September 19, 2016, 10:33 am

Doesn't look bad at all, it's the right idea. Just need to work on your layer merging a little bit. Can still see white lines around the different layers.

Keep going though :D

alnoise - September 19, 2016, 12:05 pm

Thanks for all the kind feedback guys :) I took all of your idea's into consideration and I am working on another project, hopefully one that comes out better than this one.

LushVibesss - September 21, 2016, 1:14 pm

were you high? xd no jk but add shadows and dont use the "magic stick" tool but nice idea :D

Tbh yes

Liquir - September 21, 2016, 2:36 pm

Haha good job dude. I recommend you look into layer blending and shadows :) A great first attempt! :)

I applaud your first time effort but it is quite an eye sore. I wouldn't throw the word 'good' around like others. If you keep at it, I'm sure you will create some nice art.

Ey! Thanks for the positive constructive feedback! I'll keep working on more project and hopefully I will get into that 'Good' category!

Since I don't have anything installed on my new PC yet I have taken the liberty of highlighting some of the mistakes in your work; on paint.

For your first time using Photoshop it's pretty decent.

Horizon - October 3, 2016, 7:05 am

Interesting, try adding a shadow from the person.

Kuldar - October 3, 2016, 7:32 am

It isn't visually eye pleasing but keep practising. Do not forget small but important details like shadows and textures, they can change the outlook of your work dramatically. Good luck! ?

From the looks of this I'm sure you feel like you learned a lot in a short time, you've used a lot of different stuff and the outcome isnt even that bad

Thanks man :). I am still trying to teach myself how to use it but I had to google some problems I encountered here and there. For example I am using Photoshop for a school project and I had to make a newspaper ad and when I typed any sort of punctuation mark it would to to the beginning of the line and I could NOT find the fix for that so I had to google it. But other than that I am teaching myself what all the different tools do.

To everyone that posted on this thread: Thanks so much for all the feedback, I really was not expecting this much support on my first project. I thought this thread was going to go straight to the second page haha atomicguard - October 5, 2016, 8:02 am

That is most definitely wayyy better than what I could do after first getting photoshop, good job man, keep doing it!

ErudiN - October 5, 2016, 8:02 am not good, but not bad... you can do it better

Drug Problems - October 5, 2016, 8:05 am

For your first time this is super amazing. You can become so good at designing I don't have a doubt. Hopefully you pursue it even if its just a small hobby!

GoogzGazuli - October 9, 2016, 12:21 am

Better than what i could do, looks sick man.

Audi RS3 - October 9, 2016, 9:58 am

Looks good for your first time buddy. Instead of using the wand, watch a few videos about the pen tool in photoshop and try it that way.

lucky. - October 10, 2016, 1:30 pm

For a first time its definitely not trash. You show fundamental knowledge for photo manipulation, now critic on it and learn more ways to be precise and to blend so that it looks more natural.

I'd be interested to see something you put good effort into, since this wasn't thought of too seriously (especially given the random smudges of unerased image in the sky).

?ictor? - October 17, 2016, 3:01 pm

Not bad at all if that was your first. Keep going at it!
