Thread: I hate cable management.

Mr. Robot - September 22, 2016, 8:12 am

Not like cable management as in, the process of having to tidy it - just having it tidy at all.

I condemn you all if you think having a desk without cables everywhere is a good thing. Y'all need to take a long hard look at your life and ask what's wrong with you.

Cables + messy desk is fantastic. This is my old setup but it was too clean for me.
(this is not a troll thread, I am serious. Desks are made to be cluster fucks, please don't make it 'clean' - You have to dominate your work space like a dog pissing on a tree)
Spoiler (Click to View)

If even one of you says "oh but my mom bought me a $500 desk" - that's not an excuse. That's being pussy whipped by your parents.
This is the type of shit i'm talking about.

"Desks are made to be cluster fucks"?

I think you're just trying to justify being lazy. You're looking for excuses to not have to clean so you tell yourself they are made to be cluster fucks.

Ayntwan - September 22, 2016, 8:16 am

I prefer having a clean and tidy desk myself tbh.

There's a difference between being clean and being a cluster fuck.

No it's not about being lazy - it's about dominating your work space. Sure if you are some school kid who needs to have room for his oversized mousepad that definitely isn't compensating ... then whatever have a clean desk.

Inked ?Feather - September 22, 2016, 8:20 am

I wrote on my desk in sharpie. Good vibes, promoting creativity, etc.
It's not messy though, there's nothing to clutter it

That second picture looks like a fire hazard but the first is fine- it's your desk. You do you

My cable management game isn't so good either

Alright then. If you like messy desks then so be it. I'll stick to my clean desk with as few cables visible as possible. Can't stand a messy desk.

Maxi - September 22, 2016, 8:24 am

Heey! We got the same UPS! Haha, you should fix your cable managment though, go to ikea and pick up some cable managment stuff. I really enjoy fixing my desk and having it as clean as possible. It's acutally "fun" to fix your cables. Try to always aim to make your desk as good looking as possible!

That's exactly my setup right now (i need my phone for internet tethering)

also it's not really a mousepad lol just one of the spike and suzy comics i had lying around as a replament

i have literally dozens of these lying around

No. At least use black and don't bunch them up like that. 1 cable tie per cable.

I used to give zero fucks but got tired of having to walk around my work-space like a fucking flamingo.

Send me your PC specs if that's the case, let me see. ?

Please, my PC specs have nothing to do with my setup. Each machine I own has a purpose - none of which involve raging at kids in League of Legenados or playing CSgo.

Lol I have a rather huge living area in which my shit is and the cables feel welcoming. Having it clean in the space I have just feels so stupid and uncomfortable.

why do you have a bunch of those just laying around?

Mi2414 - September 22, 2016, 9:55 am

Such a hassle for me , I have friends that do beautiful cable work though.

'Ben - September 22, 2016, 10:10 am

I can't stand fucking cables hanging everywhere, it has to be neat.

YinYang - September 22, 2016, 10:12 am

get a cable spine,

I have one and it's great
