Thread: Get an Xbox One S for as low as \$148

Night Fury - September 25, 2016, 12:59 pm

Just saw this on Twitter. For anyone that needs an Xbox, this might be something to look into.
"UPDATE: You can get an Xbox One S for as low as $148 before tax by cancelling the free game. At Target. Target's free game offer w/ Xbox One includes games over $59.99 (ex. $250 RB4 bundle is free)". Do in-store pickup to get it today.

The guy ordered from: www.target.com

According to the twitter account, it's not a mistake:

"If you want to know why Xbox One S went cheap, it's all because Target is offering a free game greater than $60. It's a pro-rated refund."

"MS said the promo is for $59.99 and under games but Target didn't specify any limitation. So technically there was no "glitch" today" It adheres to the terms of service.

edit:

If Rock Band is sold out for good, then try one of these: Spoiler (Click to View)Tip: The higher value the game, the better the deal you'll receive.

Yes, and it worked. After you place the order, you actually have the option to cancel your entire order, or just parts of your order. Order the console + game, cancel the game, you receive pro-rated refund. If you don't like the refund you receive after cancelling the game, then just cancel the Xbox too.

Here's another person saying it worked for them:

This is how it works:

1. Place Xbox One S in cart
2. Find game that applies to promotion, add to cart
3. Checkout as either guest or with your account. I did in-store pickup.
4. Pay with option of your choice. (Extra 5% off with Target Redcard)
5. Upon completion of order, it will ask you if you want to cancel anything. Click the link, cancel the game, and you'll have your discount.

Well unless they change the terms (it could happen), then the deal goes until October 1 at 11:59pm. Might be something to keep an eye on in case they restock.

Here's someone that did Mirror's edge instead:

OddestFuture - September 26, 2016, 5:42 am

I think they could have like fixed this?

Every time I add the Xbox one halo edition to my cart and a promo game it just stays at $280.

Hasn't gone below that once.

I've taken the game out the card and still keeps price at $280

You have to completely check out first before you get the option to cancel the game. If you don't like the discount after cancelling the game, just cancel the Xbox too.
