'file' just mean that it doesn't have an extension. Since its a windows specific thing try to open it with notepad if not tell us where it came from.

Keyloggers take screenshots.

Key loggers logs keys. If it can take possession of a camera its not just a key logger, its a key logger and something more.

dunno about above ppl but could be true. i do agree that a .file is a unknown type or non file type. you can rename it to bfasdkfjbkladfbjsjk name

no extension

hell maybe exe bc if it is keylogger itd run lol

Did you just state that you need the physical camera of a laptop or a webcam, to take a screenshot of one's screen? Can you be any more wrong?

CorrosiveBlueberry - October 14, 2016, 7:39 am

Ya Delupura your immune from keyloggers if you got your yearly flu vaccine tbh.

Windows has a screenshot function and you can easily grab that from the clipboard, no software required.
