

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: hacking word documents?

xxxtigerhax - September 27, 2016, 2:13 pm

was wondering if there was a way to put a worm/mole into a word document? im really new to hacking and was just wondering if i could it.

the situation is my teacher goes onto a website and downloads students word docs, i was wondering if i could worm that document which would give me the username and password to the website, in which gives me the teachers account.

SIM-2059193 - September 27, 2016, 2:17 pm

They're called word macro's you can look them up on here.

walrusEOF - September 27, 2016, 2:32 pm

(Sep 27, 2016 02:13 PM)xxxtigerhax Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) was wondering if there was a way to put a worm/mole into a word document? im really new to hacking and was just wondering if i could it.

the situation is my teacher goes onto a website and downloads students word docs, i was wondering if i could worm that document which would give me the username and password to the website, in which gives me the teachers account.

You can exploit the Marco features in Microsoft word to execute a payload.