Many forum owners start a forum and let it die simple because there are not many people joining and lack of motivation, it becomes a ghost town, then stress strikes and next thing you know is hosting expires and forum turns into dust.. Starting up a forum is a very touch game, seeing it die is even worse..

Enters SEOSatanForum..

We have primarily been a hardcore SEO forum.., but as of today we're changing things slightly. What I mean by that is we're making forums promotion a lot easier and a fun process, what that means is we've finally got around creating a new section called 'Forums promotion & Feedback'.

In other words if you own a forum you are allowed to promote it SEOSatanForum, exchange posts & threads, ask for advice and feedback and learn how to promote your forum.

Now in return we ask you for two things:

- You must have 10 quality posts on forum to start your forums promotion or create threads.
- Be sure to read the two stickies in the section that enforce thread layouts.

That said welcome to SSF.
