Thread: How a 16 Year Old Student Started His Own Company And Now Makes \$2600/week

Theodore Bagwell - September 29, 2016, 4:18 pm

I'm back to HF with a brand new ebook! I'm going to limit copies to 10. Please don't ask for a vouch copy.

If you have any questions, post below and I'll make an FAQ.

This is a brilliant method and, honestly, anyone can do it. The ebook is very easy to read and follow through, and even includes links that help you understand specific sections. Great work and definitely worth the price, considering how much you will make in return.

Review: it is well put together, has a lot of potential for the younger users coming up.

It is centered? I have that around the entire thread. Excuse me if I'm wrong, I haven't been around HF in a while

I'll take the vouch if it'd stll available and will leave honest review

Edit:

Nevermind.

1 question, if this makes $2600 a week why are you selling it?

I've been away from HF for a while and wanted to come back to share some success I've had. But I'm not willing to give away this method for free. If I did, it would become too saturated and fairly useless. It's better to keep it to a small number of paying people (i.e. the 10 copy limit on the ebook).

That's so illogical.

Then limit the amount of free copies you give?

That's what you're doing with the sales.

39$ should be nothing for you.

It doesn't make sense to me either, in theory he would make more money in a day of using the method than he would selling the method to 10 users.
