I hope you don't get angry from me posting this on your sales thread but quite a lot of people seem to have files that require admin privileges so I would somewhat recommend adding a process elevation feature :)

It is not a crypters job to add elevation though, and its rather unusual for a crypter to have something it is not suppose to have.

It would just make the crypter worse.

Any decent malware would be able to do elevation. Not the crypters job.

Therefore I won't be adding it nor add any feature a crypter isn't suppose to have.

I have no idea why HF focuses on features rather than quality.

It's better to have a simple, high quality crypter then a low quality crypter with all kinds of bells and whistles.

It's runtime FUD with the common ones though.

No need to be harsh.

If you want to know if it's runtime FUD i suggest you read the thread title or the thread design. I'm not sure why you expect my answer to be different as what the thread states.

I hope this answer is clear enough for you.

This is by far the best native crypter to date, relatively low stub size, scan-time and run-time FUD. Tested and confirmed it does bypassed most AV's.

Don't know why this is so cheap, should be 45 USD per month.

I made this crypter cheap so i could compete with the others, maybe I'll up the price after a while.

Just because it uses s4y doesn't mean it does not distributes. It has the right to distribute as well because it words it's sentences like this: "No scan results are distributed". ND also stores files, as you can see for the rescan feature (as well as distribution).

I'm very excited to use the tool. He's a writer, so obviously the credibility must be coming from somewhere. I've heard only good things about the crypter, and it seems as though he's very active, stubs apparently being re-FUD every 4-7 days (based on the replies of the thread). Based on that, you can tell he's dedicated to his work and I'm sure I've made the right choice in investing my money into this. Thanks Vitani, and please do keep up the effort. I've chosen the Monthly plan, but odds are I'll probably be switching over to the Lifetime plan once expired.

Actually The Unknown Coder and Breaker1911 are right, since it is coded in C++ (which is native) you can crypt .NET files with it as well as C++ files, Delphi files and more.

i'm very much interested in a native crypter for my darktrack server. i use it with doc exploit so UAC bypass and runtime bypass of major AVs is a big concern.

please can the UAC and runtime bypass be confirmed by anybody? the programmer can pm me with info better still. i'm willing to buy if i can achieve those with this tool. thanks

The crypter is not detected by UAC but that being said, if you use garbage software you will obviously get garbage results.

It is not the crypter's job to do anything with UAC.

Hackforums needs to get that idea out of it's head.

If you are talking about the idea of "UAC" that HF has in its head. Then I suppose my crypter has UAC bypass as well, but then I would be able to say that I have a "usg" because it changes a few things.

I can bullshit about my crypters features like the majority of sellers but I won't do that.

If you truly need to bypass UAC look into decent malware instead of just looking at crypters.

As for runtime, there are pages upon pages of vouches. If people had issues you'd see them there.

Lol you're smart. He answered the first time. No hidden startup means no hidden startup and its stupid. As any decent AV will stop the infection before it even happens. So you have a feature that would render the crypter useless. Thank God he doesn't have it.

If you must spread through email or skype with whatever method, please always put your crypted stub in a password protected archive (ie zip it and set password) So you don't get to see some AV guys run your file on their VM and scan shit.

It's totally in our hands to keep stubs FUD for longer periods. Also as the programmer already told you, NEVER SCAN ON VIRUSTOTAL! !

Email clients and skype also scan on VT and other distribute sites so zip your stub with passwords and spread with real balls

Let's help each other here and also help the programmer cos as we know this is the best native stuff you can lay hands on in here and FUD asf

Thanks all ;

I won't add just add features to the crypter if they are useless or not the crypters job.

If you look at the features right now you will see that there are only practical and usefull features.

If I were to add anything that people want it would only make the crypter worse in my opinion.

If I decide to add a feature it is because it's going to improve the crypter :)

Thanks for your suggestion though, I appreciate the feedback.

Alright I'll look forward to it. Best crypter so far

EDIT: you could look into the "Run once " feature that's needed for binding media files. I noticed that if "run once" is selected while binding, the binded media file will only run the first time the file is executed. After that it won't show up again when file is opened the second time.

I mean run once function should not imply file can only run once and terminate afterwards i think the media file should show up each time the file is opened.

I would appreciate if you'd look into that in your updates ?

How do you not see where you went wrong?

The definition of the noun "Once": a single occasion; one time only.

Quote:i think the media file should show up each time the file is opened.

Have you tried not selecting the "run once" option? ?

I'm sorry for being dickish but just found it funny that you're complaining about the binded file running only once when you literally selected the option "run once".

Anyways pm me for help if you need it, I'll be glad to help you.

You don't get it. You must select run once cos you're gonna select persistence. If you bind a picture and didn't select run one and then use persistence, it's gonna be one hell of a shitstorm. When that file is run the picture will certainly block the computer screen persistently even after restart.

Maybe you won't understand my point. I'm gonna hit you up on skype later

That is how its suppose to be. If a person decides not to use 'run once' with persistence or not it will come back on restart. If the user decides to use 'run once' the binded file will only run once. It it not the fault of the crypter to add persistence to the binded file that you did not select to 'run once' if you don't select it. Working just how it is suppose to work tested right before writing this post.

Lol You don't seem to get it. If you're binding a photo you're certainly gonna run once cos you will use persistence. If not, then it's a hell of shitstorm cos when that file is run the photo will never leave the screen. Even if you don't use persistence the photo will always show up each time on restart cos there's startup.

I'll have to hit you up later on skype it may be sounding like riddles here. I'm not new to "run once" anyway. I'm gon be needing lifetime soon that's why I'm particularly devoted to this crypter.

Best native protector ever sold on hfl don't think you know all to well what "run once is". When you blind for lets say a photo and check "run once". When the user restarts their system that photo will not show up on startup. Because it is run once..

It's not an issue with the crypter itself, which is why I will not be changing anything.

If you don't like how it functions, don't use the startup on the crypter. After all a crypter is just supposed to crypt, everything else is extra.

Next time when you have an issue, come to me directly and don't post on the salestthread as this is not a support thread.

Consider this your final warning. If you need further assistance, message me don't post here. Read the TOS, you could have been banned.

My HWID has just been activated by Vitani and I want to leave my honest review here:

-It's 100% FUD scantime: <https://www.ziscan.com/result.php?scan=14849931638468>

-It's the 4th crypter I bought in the last 2 days from HF. The ones from before were Darkeye, AbstraCrypt and StaticCrypt.

-With this crypter I executed Orcus to 16 clients and 15 connected successfully. With Darkeye and AbstraCrypt it didn't work at all, while with StaticCrypt only 6 connected.

Also waiting to see more review on compatibility and runtime FUD from other users.
Compatible with literally everything, tried on Netagent holding bot, LL and IM4 along with something I wrote in c++ just to protect it. Runtime FUD is hard to get on any crypter but I bypassed AVG and Avast with it when the stub was pushed brand new.

How long do your stubs remains FUD for on average?

(Feb 6, 2017 03:53 PM)unstopabl3 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How long do your stubs remains FUD for on average?

There is no average time. It all varies on how my customers decide to use a certain update.

I usually release a new stub every 12 hours to prevent over use of the stubs, detected or not.

Obviously the FUD time doesn't compare to something like AutoIT as comparing the two would be idiotic.

client-1337 - February 21, 2017, 3:48 am

From the public crypters i have used so far this one is the best.Frequent updates,no dependencies(C++),new FUD stub every 1-2 days,great support(the guy is friendly and polite ,he never ignores his customers!).

The only drawback is a huge users pool and among them there are those who mass spread and use distribute scanning sites , it really shortens the fudtime.

But for a public crypt its absolutely worth the money!

GLWS (although less customers would surely be more beneficial for me :P)

All I did after installation was to test if Vitani's words will match his actions.

lo and behold, stub was completely 100% FUD, fast execution and bypassed Avast easily.

I am very pleased and I must say the search is OVER for native crypters.

Thankx Vitani for you patience and understanding.

Set up a vm and test it yourself. If you messaged him while he was offline he did not get your message. If he messaged you while you where offline you did not get his message. Patience is a great virtue in life. Anyways once more if skype is not working simply wait for a pm back. I got activated via pm when I bought.

SubAtomicShop - March 16, 2017, 11:39 am so, its been around a week or so after using this crypter and its absolutely perfect.

Many of you are wondering how its like after a while of trying it out, if the support is as good as when you bought it and if the quality is maintained.

So was I and if there is anything this year that I will ever regret purchasing its NOT this crypter thats for sure, im just as satisfied as when I left my initial review and more. I really wont bother with even considering the majority of the crypters out here because it smokes them in so many ways, and the bang for buck ratio is just too high with Spartan.

Well. I saw a lot of positive review here.

Do you guys actually test if your server runs ?
Maybe it's my fault, but I'm struggling for getting a working exe, crypting nanocore servers.

The encrypted exe runs for 3-4 minutes then exit. ?

Update:
nevermind.? I found out that if the crypted server finds programs like process explorer in execution don't connect and terminate himself.
Is for deter forensic examination, good thing but the autor could warn about this feature ?
good crypter !

Just pushed yet another FUD stub, I hope you enjoy and as always, keep using spartancrypter!

Computerjul - April 5, 2017, 12:52 am

I bought a 1month license along with a private stub for my testing purposes.. absolutely high end product.

I tested the crypter with #. As they are both native and the stub is written in c++ it is a very good combination. In addition spartan offers a alternative loader which uses relocation table to ensure a better runtime protection (# uses reloc).

This crypter can bypass proactives with ease!!!

The Execution is very good as expected. I am using the installation within the RAT because i have more options to decide where i want to install my binary. With Spartan a crypter which focuses on crypting quality it isnt a problem to use some options and installation within the RAT.

But i am missing the support for injection in external process .. for example i can not use the watchdog module with # because i doesnt work after crypted. So that would be a good idea to improve. :)

FUD: 1 week

Best regards

IMPORTANT

I just did a global licence reset on the crypter. I am tired of all the mass spreaders and people who abused the crypter in general. This will improve the overall quality of the crypter.

All new orders will proceed as normal. Of course this means that you can still buy the crypter and get activated right away.

I am closing this sales thread, so people can see this message. The thread will be reopened in 48 hours.

To get your licence back, follow these steps:

1. Go to: <https://spartanproducts.pw/globallicencereset.php>
2. Grab all the information that is asked for on that page. (And I mean all of it. If you provide me with half of the information you will be ignored!)
3. Contact me either via PM on this forum, or on skype and send me the required information. My skype is on the main thread.

Vitani - May 27, 2017, 1:30 am

Just opened up the thread as most people were reactivated! If you are not activated yet, read the post above.

Pushed a new FUD stub as well. Enjoy!

I push a new stub every 12ish hours and as you can see in my previous post the crypter is scantime FUD.

If you go to my website and visit the runtime page (<https://spartanproducts.pw/runtime.php>) you will see video proof of the crypter bypassing 5 of the most common AV's.

Just pushed another FUD stub for you guys, I hope you're enjoying it. I'll also push a new update soon.

Phantom Aboki - July 1, 2017, 11:25 am

I bought this crypter recently and I have to give a little but honest review based on my test.

I tested it with Netwire and after crypting the stub was fud on scantime. I executed on my PC with Eset AV and it bypassed Eset on runtime without any issue.

The only problem I had was persistence. I killed the process on task manager and it didnt come back up, but after restarting the PC it came back up and running. So the persistence wasnt too strong but startup was good.

I would definitely recommend this crypter to anyone.

It is not the crypters job to bypass UAC. Bypassing it will vary on what you crypt.

The crypter itself is not detected by it and 99% of the time there are no issues.

Only the wrapper is Delphi. The actual stub code that does stuff is written in C++. This is the only way I can update twice a day, otherwise it would be impossible for me to update twice a day as often as I do.

PROS:

The detection rate is 10/10! 100% FUD.

Insanely easy to use.

Great design.

Tons of features.

Support is insanely good!

CONS:

I honestly can't find anything bad. It's not everyday you find a crypter this good.

I told you a few times now but since you found it nessecary to post on the thread I'll say it again.

After you open the crypter it says "downloading new stub". A .sc file will get downloaded and placed in the same folder the crypter is in along with a version.ini file. If the stub doesn't get downloaded simply delete the version.ini file and restart the crypter.

Alternatively you can download the stub directly from the link I sent you in skype.

Lol whats the point of the pm if you will post on the thread also?

Anyways, I experienced what you have before by not letting it finish downloading. Delete the version log and let it finish downloading.

Not a hard to fix all it takes is a little bit of common sense. Hope that helps ?

The fact that you are to stubborn to listen to me and fix your DNS settings which are causing the problem instead of bashing me and my crypter is annoying.

For people wondering, his crypted IM build executes and connects just fine on his own PC but not on others.

There are multiple people vouching that IM works just fine with spartancrypter in this thread.

A few quotes:

The crypter is scan AND runtime FUD though if you use all kinds of unneeded bells and whistles then ofcourse it might not bypass everything.

Should you run into a problem then I am ofcourse there to recommend you the best options on how to get your file runtime FUD.

Officially the crypter does not support .NET 4.0 however some RAT's have been tested and worked just fine with it. Take Quasar as example.

Hey. I advise this crypter to perform its functions well. The only thing the Avast anti-virus detects is suspicious. Maybe it's because of startup, I would like to see in the future some hidden way to autorun. Also it is unclear what to do when the license ends? How to extend?

Maybe you will make an auto-buy?

The crypter is runtime FUD. If it's not bypassing Avast 99% of the time it's because of some settings you (mis)used.

I'm not sure what's unclear about the license duration. If you bought one month it will end 30 days after activation. If you bought 3 months it will end 70 days after activation and if you bought lifetime it will be active as long as the crypter exists.

parkingcash - August 6, 2017, 2:05 pm

Hello Vitani,

I just bought Spartan crypter, I tested it under Win10 the latest build with latest Defender, the crypted file of mine doesn't bypass windows defender's runtime scan.

my original file without crypt is detected by Defender on scantime itself, but it doesn't trigger any runtime detection at all because its just a simple file coded by our coder just for testing this, which only popup a message after running and nothing else, it doesnt write/read file from harddrive, doesn't write/read any info from the system/hardware, doesnt write/read any registry key, and it has no internet connection activities at all. the file is 101% harmless, All it does its popup a message box, and you can click OK to end it.

what I do its just crypt the testing file I mentioned above with Spartan crypter, then the crypted file is Scantime clean now with Defender, but the issue is on Runtime scan, after running the crypted file, when you see the message popup from my file, and open up Defender, start a quick scan. wait for 10-20 seconds, then Defender will popup detection notification, and kill the injected process. the detection flag is same as my original file's scantime detection.

Please check the screen shortcut here: <https://imgur.com/a/R4sBL>

So the original file which injected in memory is somehow detected by defender.

This issue is only happened on Win10's Defender runtime scan, tested with Nod32 no such issue.

I'm serious about it, no bullshit, if I'm wrong about it, you can terminate my account immediately, my friend.

so I won't waste your time, Could you check and fix, appreciate it.

WinRAR pass is: testdefenderruntime the testing file is harmless, as I said above it only pops up a message, that's all.

if you don't have the testing environment, I can show you my Win10 textbox via teamviewer

Thanks again for your time and support.

for fuck sakes this is the 3rd time you do this, legit every single post you have on hackforums is you begging him to activate you. Just pop a xanny and relax for a few hours.

No need to spam his sales thread and make potential buyers not purchase it because he "doesn't respond" maybe you should 1) stop spamming his thread 2) stop posting your skype everywhere 3) follow the steps he gave you. and lastly be patient.

No worries. I was just unavailable yesterday due to travelling. I just worked through all PM's so I'll be going on skype now.

As for you being gullible and getting scammed, it's easy to avoid them. If something someone offers on the internet seems too good to be true, IT IS! Don't fall for it.

On HF you can also search for a users UID and check for scam reports in the scam reports database or simply use the search option.

one other thing, If I bought the lifetime version will I have always the updates or no ?

And if I took the one month subscription that means that the file that I encrypt wont work more than 1 month

Yes it can crypt things like that too. Lifetime is essentially just the same as monthly but then for the lifetime of the crypter. And no your crypts will keep working after the month has ended, you just won't have access to the crypter anymore to make new crypts.

And if I took the one month subscription that means that the file that I encrypt wont work more than 1 month yes as long as it's native or .NET it should work so pretty much 99.99% of .exe files, also yes you will get updates for free, if you bought the one month subscription your file will still work but it won't be fud or ud anymore so it would be useless and just as useful as the old non crypted bin (speaking of detections).

I thought the answer Lukas give was more then sufficient but alright.

Yes the crypter bypasses webroot as Lukas even tested yesterday.

Yes it does work with Quasar though keep in mind that Quasar is .net 4.0 so we don't officially support it even though it works!

It seems as if it's very hard to find a decent crypter that does what is advertised.

If you're looking for something that stays FUD that I would recommend that you don't purchase Spartan Crypter. It's almost always detected by at least 3/45 within the first hour by the most basic of AV's such as windows defend that comes enabled on most new windows installs. Within 6 hours the stub will be detectible by at least 10-15 Av's and its just not practical to use. I don't think advertising this as a FUD crypter is an honest assessment but I guess that is subjective. I appreciate the dev's help, but there is clearly something amiss. Whether it's abuse from people using the crypter with 100k bots or not, it's affecting the claimed features of the Crypter.

Just a few examples.

When you use the old stubs you won't get great results. Big shocker.

I push a new stub every 12 hours. I won't deny that the crypter gets detections after a day but I'm not sure why you should expect anything different from a native C++ crypter.

If you recrypt your files you will always get a FUD or UD result. That's not going to be different with other crypters except for the fact that others update their stub once a week no matter what their customers think.

I hope you'll find what you are looking for elsewhere because you just lost your license here.

Don't really care about the licence as it's not FUD and it's just a couple of bucks. Could have saved me time if it was accurately described. No where near 24 hours, my stub was always detected after 3-5 hours.

You can leave me bad rep claiming I want something FUD for a week, but I really don't. If you advertise something then make sure it has those features. Too many on here treat HF users like a conveyor belt of profit.

It's hard to say. Without reencrypting your file will obviously get detected.

the support really kind/fast
i recommend you all to buy this crypter

dont waste the money/time trying other crypters
Thank you for the vouch, I appreciate it!

Sorry for noob question, but how it's usually detecting - automatically or when user scanning his computer by antivirus?

Please send me a PM or in your case contact me on skype so I can elaborate on your question there, not on the sales thread.

I'm still not sure what caused this error but it seems to have been resolved. All crypto currencies are back online and you can order using any of the enabled ones!

Working now, thx :)

I bought for a month to figure out how it works.

Is possible privat stub ?

Most likely this is because you have to install a certain redistribute but more on that in skype. Please contact me at: spartanhf

Hey guys, sorry for the late replies. The reason for this is a major update I wanted to push first. I'll reply to everything right now.

Important

I just pushed a major update for SpartanCrypter. This includes improved runtime, bug fixes and no more mass spreaders.

For more information and to get your license back, go to:

<https://spartanproducts.pw/spartanupdate.php>

I'll close this thread right now for a day or 2 as it's bound to get spammed otherwise. Since this thread has over 1k replies I may just make a new thread all together somewhere today.

Oh, and I pushed a new stub on the updated builder, it's FUD as always :)
