You are now able to register through twitter

We are currently in alpha testing. I'm in hopes of having users find bugs, suggestions, etc. that way when I fully release the board, there will be 0 issues! What we need now are graphics! If anyone is up to assist us with this, that'd be great!

Tuner Heat is a forum based on street racing, sexy cars, car meets, and much more! This is the only forum I could find on the web that includes these sections all in one! Not only that, but we have a Gallery feature for all members to share and view other members cars on the forum! These features all included: Spoiler (Click to View) Code Features:

- Supports unlimited gallery categories and subcategories

- User Galleries/Personal Gallery supported. User's can create their own mini gallery

- Member group permissions for the gallery including, add picture, bulk add picture, edit own picture, delete own picture, add comment, edit comment, rate picture, personal gallery, autoapprove picture, autoapprove comments, and manage gallery

- Rating of pictures from 1 to 5 stars and viewing who rated what

- Thumbnails, medium sized images supported and you can customize the sizes generated

- Tracks if pictures have been viewed or not with unread option and able to see who viewed what picture

- Auto resize pictures to fit max image width, height requirements if you too large

- Ability to add/edit comments to picture

- Previous/Next images along with option to include mini thumbnails

- Category level permissions to set unique permissions per membergroup on a category level

- Bulk import options including batch import from folder, and bulk uploader

- Picture tagging support option to add notes to a picture

- RSS Feeds for gallery categories

- EXIF data on picture display if enabled

- Twitter integration to automatically tweet newly uploaded pictures

- Social sharing options for pictures including Facebook, Twitter, ShareThis

- File space quota system allows setting the file upload limits per membergroup based on space used

- Watermarking either with text or by an image

- Image Linking codes option for display

- Keywords and Tag Cloud options for gallery

- Stats are to show the statistics for your gallery

- Main page blocks to show recent images, most viewed, most commented, and top rated.

- Option to show related pictures underneath each picture

- Custom fields are supported on a category level to request additional information

- Many settings to control the layout and options for the gallery

- And more!

Not only that! But the entire forum is based solely on ONE category! Car enthusiasts. If you are a car enthusiast, then this is the forum for you!

What to look for in the future:New custom theme

More added awards

Custom plugins

Heavily promote the forum

Much more!

I hope to see you guys here!

Yep. Any bugs with the theme, plugins, etc.

I have the forum promoted on IG right now, just waiting for it to actually gain impressions then promote on FB/IG. After all promoting, will invest any money I get into a new theme and upgrade plugins first thing I saw when registering was that it says GMT -5 is (8:28pm) which is wrong I think lol.

Coton Pker - October 2, 2016, 6:28 pm

it's 9:28pm here in EST, which is GMT -5

That's fixed through the User CP. Unsure if there is a way to have the default time set when users sign up, might be through the host provider, but through MyBB settings, I don't think it's possible :(

Coton Pker - October 2, 2016, 6:42 pm

the quote function doesn't work with the multi-quote button.
but it does work if you click reply, though the way it quotes the post is not the best :|

and the <https://tunerheat.com/> page has no "view new posts" link, but the portal page does.. I think you should try to add one to the main forum page, personal preference

Hmm, multiquote works for me.

And View New Posts is under "Extras", will make it find right now

Thank you :)

Will be doing that after activity starts coming in. As of now, this theme isn't too bad and gets the job done. Definitely more appealing than most car forums out there such as the370z.com , my350z.com , camaro5.com , etc

When you are starting a new thread, you should have the logo brands of all the manufactures in the icon options.

Lost interest in it and would rather shut it down than have it up and put absolutely no work. Would rather create a forum that I'm passionate about and won't get bored of Those 5.0 stangs are pretty fast. The launch is mad slow, but from a roll.. god damn they're quick

Maxjimme - October 3, 2016, 2:12 pm its interesting answer for security question for

Is this a .com, .net, or a .org website?

is net but domain is .com

We have a track racing section on the forum. As soon as the forum grows, more sections will be added, but for now, just want to stick to the basics. All car owners are welcome to join regardless of what you drive ?

Thanks bro ?
