

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: create site so totally anonymous

mrgoodcat - October 2, 2016, 4:27 am

Hello everyone, I was wondering if it 'can create a site in a totally anonymous and free, we just have to create an email address (eg Gmail) using torque at that moment and register in wordpress always under torque and with that' address, and access the site only with tor?

Dir50 - October 2, 2016, 4:32 am

Here you are : <https://www.torproject.org/docs/tor-hidden-service.html.en>

Faith Connors - October 2, 2016, 4:34 am

If you want to host your own .onion site you need bulletproof hosting and some more stuff which I'm not gonna talk about due to the nature of site rules.

RainGaming - October 2, 2016, 9:41 pm

From what I was always told.. There's no such thing as bulletproof. Yeah some are harder to get. But in the end if the government wants you bad enough they will be willing to pay to get you shut down or traced. With money there is always people willing to talk. Remember, websites and services claim to be bulletproof or "no logged" but I would say only a few rare are.

05317832892 - October 2, 2016, 11:39 pm

(Oct 2, 2016 09:41 PM)RainGaming Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) From what I was always told.. There's no such thing as bulletproof. Yeah some are harder to get. But in the end if the government wants you bad enough they will be willing to pay to get you shut down or traced. With money there is always people willing to talk. Remember, websites and services claim to be bulletproof or "no logged" but I would say only a few rare are. Im treading carefully because this is a sensitive topic on HF but onion websites can be traced if you look at examples of previous ones that have been raided. Enough, no further.

As for bulletproof hosting? It's not bulletproof unless you do it yourself e.g. Buy an island and set up a server out there. Even then Donald trump will still nuke it from his bedroom.

The bulletproof hosting over here is normally just a server hosting company that is happy to let some hf nerd resell their product and let people do whatever they want with it. The truth is, if they got spammed with complaints or even 1 phone call from the popo, there is no way they are gonna go ahead with their "bulletproofness".