The user Silent Storm who has been getting a whole ton of hate recently may possibly be compromised. Apologies if this has already been addressed.

His trust scan:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Also, he has had many deal disputes opened against him, further proving that he may have sold his account or had his account compromised.

Do not deal with the user.

He's not compromised, he's trying to fake it.

Everything was fine and nothing was changed and the I.P still wasn't changed when he started doing all this.

And after 2 Community Alerts/Scam Reports opened, he changed everything to I guess to make it look like it wasn't him.

Also his I.P still hasn't changed lol.

If the account was compromised why would they enable 2FA?

So that they have full control over the account.

I don't understand?
