First episode was pretty good. It definitely started out much better than the first season. It also seems a bit of time has passed since the events of season one. I'm hoping this season turns out to be really good.

This seems like one of the Gundam anime that will have more than two seasons though. I'm almost certain this season will have 25 episodes that build up to a bigger climatic point but not ending, just because this story feels kind of longer with no particular field of aim yet. I'm really hoping this goes in the same kind of route as Gundam SEED though and peaks at around 100 episodes.

I quite liked S1, look forward to watching this in the future.

How's the art with the newer Gundams, seems more CGI from what I can tell lest I'm mistaken.

No CG. But it appears to look that way because of the art and particular mobile suit designs. Sunrise always manages to amaze me when animating Gundam. So far I believe nothing has been CG, but then again I could be wrong because lots of anime have minor usage of CG when it comes to certain things, including Gundam series in the past. But as far as I'm aware no mobile suit themselves were animated with CG. Their designs just look more bulky and three-dimensional.

skelly76 - October 3, 2016, 10:48 pm

Do people actually like the mobile battle suit shit. So boring for me they are all the same... they just shoot rockets and stuff.

Gundam is extremely popular in Japan, so yes.

Ah alright, perhaps it is indeed the art design, but many modern anime use some form of CGI nowadays to speed up the production. Will still check this one out though eventually ;)

shreder - October 6, 2016, 12:47 pm

Definitely have to check this out thanks

Mafty Navue Erin - October 9, 2016, 5:02 pm

Good new episode. New OP is alright too. I am liking this new main-ish side character though. Hush I think it was? He seems like he's going to have a lot of relevance soon.

Deany - October 9, 2016, 5:03 pm

I can't find the ending song anywhere on YT it's really good

I've always wanted to get into Gundam. Is this a good place to start?

(Oct 9, 2016 05:10 PM)Ashitaka Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've always wanted to get into Gundam. Is this a good place to start?

I would definitely not start off with Iron-Blooded Orphans. The series is still airing, and it is more on the lackluster side for being a Gundam series. I find it to personally be less impressionable in comparison to other series.

I recommend starting with either Gundam 00, Gundam SEED, Gundam Wing, G Gundam, Gundam AGE, or the original Mobile Suit Gundam.

The original Mobile Suit Gundam is recommended because that is the original timeline with an abundant of sequels. Only problem for most people is the very old and outdated use of animation; Although the sequels do gradually get animated better.

Mafty Navue Erin - October 16, 2016, 3:53 pm

Newest episode was pretty good. I really love the new Barbatos Lupus. The design and weapon attachments had me sold. The side guns remind me of Gundam Heavy Arms. And the melee weapons are just badass to see. Gundam Gusion is pretty cool too even though it's hard to tell it's a Gundam. Actually really liking all these mobile suit designs though.

Mafty Navue Erin - October 24, 2016, 1:28 pm

Good episode. Mikazuki is as ruthless as ever.

I'm a bit of a Seed fanboy as well. Right now Seed/Destiny is a lot better. But I think that IBO has the potential to be great as well if the story holds out. In comparison IBO has no real plot right now after 29 episodes from what Seed had from the start. What I personally think is that it might be a longer running MSG series like Seed/Destiny. I want to think that it will peak around 100 episodes as well.

GS/GSD wasn't popular in the West it's sad... Such a good show. It's extremely popular in Japan since the Japanese have actual good taste. ;)

Well it was hard for Gundam to stand out in the West period. Wing and G Gundam were the only ones that captivated most people and that was in the 90's. GS has actually received quite a bit of hate for some reason. Not really sure why but I assume it was because of GSD. New MC was hated.

A bit late to watch this week's episode, but nothing all too exciting happened anyway. Hoping to see the Chocolate Man acting soon.

Mafty Navue Erin - November 7, 2016, 7:47 pm

Another so-so episode. More interesting than the last one. Hoping to not see any relevant Tekkaden members die.

Mafty Navue Erin - November 13, 2016, 6:51 am

Great episode. Season two is definitely living up.

I'm loving Akihiro's Gundam Gusion even more now. Also one of the biggest things I like about IBO in particular is the deaths. RIP to Spoiler \(Click to View\) Aston even though it was foreshadowed.

Hi I'm Agreeable - November 13, 2016, 9:25 am

S1 was good, I am looking forward to season 2!

Mafty Navue Erin - November 21, 2016, 2:01 pm

Although this episode had no action, it was good because of the feels. Never realized the other masked guy was Spoiler \(Click to View\) McGillis Fareed in a mask and wig. That must have went over my head in season 1.

The end of the episode was kind of strange though. When Mikazuki told Orga felt relieved that Takaki quit and asked why. That whole moment with Orga was kind of strange. I think Orga was starting to feel guilty for warping Mikazuki's mind. He warped it to a degree where Mikazuki can't freely think without Orga putting the okay. If IBO makes it past season two then I think that will be some kind of plot factor later on.

Happy to see two more Gundams into the mix now. Gundam Vidar is pretty badass. Gundam Flauros looks pretty sick too. I'm sure it will be badass.

Latest episode was pretty great. That battle was pretty epic. Overall pretty feelsy episode with Mika and Orga.

Mafty Navue Erin - January 17, 2017, 6:20 am

Damn, that felt like forever before a new episode was released, although I was a bit late. New episode was pretty boring. New opening and ending are great though. Second best to the first ones of season one.

Sorun - January 19, 2017, 12:30 am

Thought I was the only guy watching this still. I like how a lot of people are denying the obvious death flags at the beginning of the latest episodes. Don't get me wrong, I don't want them to die either but that's some basic bitch death flag scenes. Ohhhh boy that mobile armor scene was intense and now we got a paraplegic haha damn. That's some real character development right there. I hope that gets worked out because I can't imagine him having much of a future.

Yeah, more deaths are bound to happen. I want to think most of Tekkadan will eventually be wiped out.

My guess about Mikazuki though is that the next Gundam he receives (most likely the first Gundam frame from McGillis Fareed) will combat that issue; Maybe in a similar way the Zeon soldier from Gundam Thunderbolt operated his Zaku.

Spoiler (Click to View)Glad all the rotten eggs got taken out this episode. Didn't really wanna see the last 8 episodes being the same enemies.

The preview to the next episode makes me iffy though. Like there seems to be subtle hints. I thought this from the very beginning of season 1 but I'm almost certain McGillis Fareed will become the true enemy. I mean he does have in possession the very first Gundam frame too.

I just hope this anime doesn't end at episode 50. I want 100 episodes dammit!

Gundam has always had pretty solid animation. Sunrise does not disappoint. The original Mobile Suit Gundam was made in 1979 and still has quality animation for its time. If you want a good introduction to the lore, watch Mobile Suit Gundam and everything else within the Universal Century (main) timeline.

Spoiler \(Click to View\) What do you guys think Hush meant when he noticed something different about Atra

I kind of figured so. I'm actually not sure what will happen but with seemingly little setup for the final episodes, I'm assuming we'll get another season.

Spoiler \(Click to View\) My guess is that either Tekkaden or only Mika will enter this final battle to help McGillis. But usually around this point there are Gundam cliches that boast the end point of the story -- mobile armors and new Gundams being the prime example. Most likely the battle will be won until McGillis turns on Tekkaden or vice versa.

And what Hush said about Atra, not sure if you noticed but Mika and Atra finally had their moment two episodes ago when she said she loved him. That was basically in reference to her being more dominant around Mika.

Mafty Navue Erin - March 12, 2017, 6:34 am

Not sure exactly where the plot is going at this point but Spoiler \(Click to View\) I'm sure most of Tekkadan is going to die. I like that this final battle is going to be on Mars. What I'm curious about though is what will happen afterward. Whether the outcome is a win or loss, I'm still sticking true to there being another season/series; Much similar to Gundam Seed Destiny. I still think the plot is not mature enough to end, hence supporting the mixed feelings about IBO being slow-paced and/or boring to some people.

Oh my fucking god.. I've been waiting for this episode to happen since episode 1. Hopefully the events of this episode paint a new plot.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)I can't believe Orga fucking died. I mean the death flag was painted from the beginning, but still. It was much needed but now I wonder what is going to happen to Mika, whom has little-to-no free thought. My guess is that he'll go all out with McGillis Fareed next episode. I want to think Fareed is going to survive but probably not. I'm still thinking there is a good chance this will lead into another season, possibly with a large timeskip.

Two episodes left with no real climatic point besides death for everyone, which I really hope isn't true.

Spoiler \(Click to View\) I thought whats his name was being healed on a Gjallarhorn fleet ship when he was all messed up ? McGillis still has a sizeable force behind him

But I do agree on the character development, it was going to happen eventually.

Mafty Navue Erin - March 27, 2017, 2:02 am

Another amazing episode.

Spoiler \(Click to View\) I can't believe McGillis and Hush died though. I mean it was pretty expected with McGillis, that battle was pretty epic, I seriously thought he was going to kill Gaelio and then Gaelio pulls that 180. But Hush though, I mean come on, he was a cool character; A new character at that. The plot made it seem like he was getting built up to be a more relevant character but I guess not.

I'm still certain we'll see another season coming, hopefully one with a larger timeskip, but let's see what the final episode tells us. Imo this has been kind of a lackluster build up for a Gundam ending, so I hope we see more content.

Sorun - March 27, 2017, 2:30 am

Naisuuu, I'm going to start it now.

No gundam series has done 75 episodes from what I recall, I'm pretty sure we won't see a third season. Considering what happened this episode the story would be totally weird and not much to go off of imo. Next episode "their place" is most likely the end. FINITO :(

OP

Red equals death

Red petals means death as well

Blue represents grief from a loved ones death

red tiger lily flower in the beginning represents death in japan anyway

Spoiler \(Click to View\) mfw mikazuki dies T_T

Flower petals do fall on the a majority of the cast so they might all die but really orga stood alone when the petals rushed by him. Maybe team dies maybe not. Julieta probably dies to.

At first I thought that was mcgillis little wife spinning with kudelia but its atra(wouldve made sense about blue thing). Still thinking that them colored in blue is grief but still not sure.

Mikazuki at the end of the OP opens his eyes showing him staring down the red tiger lily (death).

TLDR Its done most people die

This episode I had to admire Mcgillis resolve even though it was pretty delusional.

Worst of all MY BOY HUSHUUUU, why they do that to my boy hush

I was thinking the same but honestly it just feels like this ending is going to be predictable and not very Gundam like. I mean like where has Mikazuki been half of the season. He's felt more like a side character than anyone else.

Honestly the plot could go two ways. Kill everyone off in the final battle or do what Gundam Seed Destiny did and incorporate a timeskip with new characters and plot.

But yeah after rewatching the OP I can see the subtle hint of death flags. I'm still not going to rule out Mika surviving though. I'm trying to have faith this won't end bad. I don't want this to be THAT Gundam series lol.

Sorun - March 31, 2017, 6:36 pm

You know now that I think about it Mika might die to Julietta. It only makes sense as shes been trying to one up him this whole time while surviving multiple fights. Also the series ending on the mars base seems about right. Started there and it ends there.

Man it's just going to trigger me if that happens. But I guess it is a befitting end for a ragtag group of stray dogs. Just I don't want to see this being the Gundam anime where the antagonists win.

Ughhhhhhh like you said we all saw it coming

Spoiler (Click to View)

I didn't even think for a second that mikazuki was alive at that end scene. We all knew it was his kid.

Julieta claiming the kill was absolutely infuriating.

Rustal being a fucking cock with those illegal weapons again.

All this build up with mcgillises master plan for nothing.

Lived like space debris, died like space debris.

Muscles killing iok and raido killing the snitch was sort of satisfying.

TLDR I gotta say this series was alright. The journey was great but the destination was shit. Not the first time I've seen the protags being used as scapegoats but damn it sure makes me mad all the same. At least faulkner gets his time skip, enjoy it m8 :^]

I think the skip was like 6 years maybe? Idk if they mentioned a exact time but im sure as hell not rewatching to find out.

Well that ending was not the worst. In fact I actually enjoyed it because I got what I needed from it.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)I'm happy not all of Tekkadan was killed, although I was fucking triggered at the way Mikazuki was brought down, but I'm happy some of the key faces and new faces survived. I was also pretty happy to see a timeskip even if it was just at the end. Ride killing that asshole was icing on the cake though.

I feel kind of bad about how hyped this was though, and how many new fans IBO brought into the picture. Overall it was kind of a lackluster Gundam anime, but the story was not bad at all.

I'm going to be kind enough to give it a 7/10 because the mobile suit designs were awesome, the story was alright, the music was great, and the ending brought enough closure.
