

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Thinking of buying Dell XPS 13? Is it the best?

The Notorious B.I.G. - October 3, 2016, 7:50 am

I was thinking of buying the dell XPS 13 and was wondering do you guys think this is the best option?

Deany - October 3, 2016, 7:50 am

Also would like to know this since I wanted to pick one up

S?pre?e - October 3, 2016, 7:57 am

I own the XPS 15 since a week now and I can tell you these are very good laptops.

However, there seem to be problems with screen flickering etc. You will have to experiment with different combinations of drivers in order to fix the most annoying bugs.

But overall, they are very high quality laptops with great performance and the XPS 13 should have good battery life.

I don't know anout the Kaby lake refresh but I expect the same quality with maybe 5% increased performance/battery life.

Keep in mind that the keyboard doesn't have a lot of travel, if you are going to be typing constantly you might want to consider something with more key travel. I have no difficulty with mine though.

NightFlame - October 3, 2016, 8:02 am

Yes, the XPS 13 is great at the moment, make sure to get the kaby lake one!

The Notorious B.I.G. - October 3, 2016, 8:35 am

(Oct 3, 2016 07:57 AM)S?pre?e Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I own the XPS 15 since a week now and I can tell you these are very good laptops.

However, there seem to be problems with screen flickering etc. You will have to experiment with different combinations of drivers in order to fix the most annoying bugs.

But overall, they are very high quality laptops with great performance and the XPS 13 should have good battery life.

I don't know anout the Kaby lake refresh but I expect the same quality with maybe 5% increased performance/battery life.

Keep in mind that the keyboard doesn't have a lot of travel, if you are going to be typing constantly you might want to consider something with more key travel. I have no difficulty with mine though.

Do you have the touch screen version?

S?pre?e - October 3, 2016, 8:39 am

(Oct 3, 2016 08:35 AM)The Notorious B.I.G. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do you have the touch screen version?
No, I own the FHD XPS 15

4K and touch is not worth it imo. (Glossy display, worse battery life, more expensive)

The Notorious B.I.G. - October 4, 2016, 10:00 am

About to order the laptop. Can anyone think of anything better or is this the best option?

SanctualProductions - October 4, 2016, 10:39 am

Obviously its not the best and its all personal preference

Wirt - October 4, 2016, 10:43 am

It all depends what you're going to use it for