Hello,

How/Where can I get Gov/Edu Backlinks?
Is it paid or do I need to invest something?

Thanks and best Mindfreak.

You can probably pay someone to get you gov or edu backlinks but check out this that I found :
<https://www.quicksprout.com/the-advanced-guide-to-link-building-chapter-5/>

Gives some good information on how to get backlinks.

Mindfreak - October 6, 2016, 12:50 pm

If anyone else please help me

Hey Mindfreak

as mentioned earlier: <https://www.quicksprout.com/the-advanced-guide-to-link-building-chapter-5/> neil's stuff is probably the most updated stuff on how to obtain some gov/edu links to your site.

but remember,

many of the edu/gov links we now days have that allow comment/guest posts are spammy as hell and would not be good for you.

having them is one thing but they can hurt you just as much as any other garbage link.

all about relevancy to your niche/articles/site.

and DO NOT- DO NOT buy anything from Fiverr when it comes to links, unless ofcourse you are trying to do some blackhat seo to your competitors or trying to get your shit sandboxed.

Fiverr services are garbage, full of people spamming garbage backlinks. I firmly believe you could spend $500 on Fiverr and nothing would happen to your rankings.

A great option is to find some good footprints and find the sites yourself. Because you can find sites with a few external links.

Fiverr is useful for social signals and expired 2.0s ;)

Grim - January 7, 2017, 10:29 pm

I can offer them to you. But if you don't care about the quality go to fiverr or other services like it.

Rainbow45rainbow45 - January 8, 2017, 8:19 am

Seriously Sith Lord what you are offering is worth 35 $s max lol (only cause of the "hand written" articles)

Anarojas - January 9, 2017, 8:57 pm

The only use for Fiverr is to use their services to penalize your competition lmao. Do not use these services.

PoppetUK - January 11, 2017, 1:16 pm

I normally buy mine, that's only because I'm lazy when it comes to link building. lul.

Well there is the good way and there is the nasty way. Good way: Offer a scholarship to students and submit it to local educational institutions. This kind of content is 99% likely to be shared (Remember this is a real process and you will have to invest some money into it.). This is the best technique. The links stay and they are very valuable. Most of the times the pass juice.

The easy way, buy some links from fiverr (most of them might be shit). After the seller completes your order, upload the list of the links to tools like semrush or Linkresearchtools (there are other tools as well). Examine them and disavow any link that has high toxic risk level.
