

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Windows 10 :1607: - Hotkeys -.-

Silver Fang - October 5, 2016, 12:52 am

Okey so my system just got updated... i had binded my windows key + f for something and now it just pops up the damn "Feedback club" app. It came along with this frickin' update.

My question is can i somehow moidify the damn shortcut keys to these shit programs that microsoft demand you to use? (also i really wonder how many actually use these programs)

So fucking sick of getting these apps getting up on my face when i don't ever asked for them, can't they just let our shortcuts and keyboard settings be? jez

Note: I don't want to disable the win key totally, i just want to modify so i can use the win key to what i actually need.

Leroy Jethro Gibbs - October 8, 2016, 8:34 am

Use iObit Uninstaller and delete the feedback app. Then it shouldn't be triggered by the keypress.

Silver Fang - October 8, 2016, 3:06 pm

(Oct 8, 2016 08:34 AM)Leroy Jethro Gibbs Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Use iObit Uninstaller and delete the feedback app. Then it shouldn't be triggered by the keypress.

Actually it worked to do it via the menu, i could search for the feedback app then rightclick on it and uninstall lol.

Thanks anyway.

also found this:

<http://www.tenforums.com/customization/7161-how-uninstall-apps-using-powershell.html>