Thread: Scammed by Mons || \$175 BTC || uid=2193596

MindFreak™ - October 6, 2016, 2:22 pm

Member name : Mons

<https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=2193596>

I'm an active and trusted member on CE section, i did one successful exchange with Mons previously, that's why i accepted to deal with him for the second time.

I received PM from Mons asking for exchange $220 PP for my BTC, but at this time i was owning $175 only so i told him about the available amount of btc and he accepted, After that we agreed on the exchange and he sent me $199.5 on PP as a gift from this email [manuelalixi@gmail.com][Business name : Service Alixi] and i sent him $175 BTC [rate 14%] , after he made the payment by 24h i got charge back on the amount, i tried to solve the issue with him friendly and i waited him more than 4 days because he said that he will call Paypal and he already sent them msg, but it is not my problem if you have illegible funds and you cheat the btc sellers with it, at end he must refund back the btc under any circumstances i will post all proofs that proving my rights and the credibility of my words

I never scammed anyone in the forums, so please support me to warn the innocent members, i already added him a negative rep but it was on old date due the first exchange with him, so it will not show on the top.

We have to stop that person because he charged back $395 from this member [UID=2735069]

Mons will not stop, he will do this more and more due to his paid sticky on the CE section and i think this is an exit scam.

It's not intentional since the "chargeback" is really a payment reversal done by PayPal themselves. He is engaging in risky business on unverified but, more importantly, fake PayPal accounts. When they're uncovered/exposed PayPal will limit them and reverse recent transactions.

He's still a scammer but I'm just putting this out there since there's always a risk of payment reversals when accepting stresser funds.

The dispute won't be resolved in any way that's not favourable for PayPal. Meaning, they'll take the money for themselves and Mons will have to pay OP out of his own pocket.

The funds are actually reversed to the limited PayPal and sit for 180 days until they're released and Mons can withdraw them to a bank account.

It is not my problem if he exchange by illegal funds, he knows that it will be selected for review from PayPal, so he must not deal with other and also the exchanger not responsible about that, if i exchange btc for pp so he must pay legit funds not illegible funds which will cuz a problems after payment, also not my problem to fight against the deal dispute, This is not fair since he received My BTC and he will never get a problem with it but his payment reversed and i lost my funds. This should be done by Mons, not Mindfreak. The account belongs to Mons so if he calls paypal and tell them that the payment isn't unauthorized, would that not be better? Mind you, it's Mons funds that are being held, not mindfreaks.

He won't do that, it will be quick solution and it will also pick him from this problems, the case still under review from paypal and it will take a long to be resolved.
