It's might but it's actually pretty good for getting bots on and executing your im4 or ll so your file dosent get reported

I get what people are saying, but they are for sure different.

OP I will look at this soon. Thanks for the share.

VirtualMon3y - October 8, 2016, 11:45 am

Hey Op I have seen this on dev-point myself and tested it a little. I would have shared it myself back in the past so good on you....

Tell me, how much use is a usb worm these days though? Are they very effective at all as I wouldn't expect so?

Tee Plow - October 8, 2016, 11:57 am

You would be surprised, USB spreading is still effective as many many people still use USB

No Shit Sherlock.

nazist - December 23, 2016, 10:09 pm

it based on njworm same source code moded just reflect it and you well see ...

JoshuTee - December 23, 2016, 10:24 pm

This looks exactly like njW0rm.

Shortcut USB spreading isn't going to work in many cases because the av gets suspicious when it finds lnk files in the style of "CMD /c start doc.txt&start ufdruhfr.Wsf"

this RAT Look like Njrat ..

TheMockingBird - January 3, 2017, 12:41 pm

What exactly is this "USB spreader" ?

I don't get it. Does it work like a teensy usb or something ?

It copies the file to be spreaded onto the USB drive, hides it, hides all files on the USB and creates shortcuts that have the same name and icon as them on the USB, and change the target to first run the file to be spread and then the actual file.

Oh ok, that's what i thought. It uses shortcuts...

Nice looking RAT. Reminds me a lot of njRat. Very dark style...

That is quite nice. Hope it's stable, gonna give it a go.

JoshuTee - January 4, 2017, 2:50 am

The built file is a VBS script, so you'll have to manually obfuscate it
