I actually have a job - not like yourself.

Exactly, none of your business.

Shopify isn't an income, it's a platform.

I could shut you up showing a couple of businesses online that make more in 2 months than you will in the next 10 years of your life. ??

I never implied that Shopify was not a platform.

If you make money by using the services from Shopify, Shopify is your income.

You won't shut me up because those couple of businesses are not yours.
And you just assumed and implied that I don't make much.
You are someone making assumptions based on emotions - You are literally the opposite of a businessman mr Leonardo wannabe.

If you need to talk about the amount of money you earn in order to feed your lack of masculinity & confidence, it will show how much of an imbecile you are.
