Password protected, and your reputation is a little sketchy to want to download a file that is only 1.17kb.

Of course virustotal will show a clean file, it can't scan the archive unless it is password protected with these passwords. It's not.

Hi,

The password is "privateloader".

The scan is to prove that it's virus free in this rat community.

What was i thinking when started publishing here :(

"Streaming Box V1 is the biggest database on earth with an 90% result accuracy!"

Biggest lie ever, bigger than Hillary Clinton. Your application's size is also too small to be able to do what you claim it does, your attempts are shitty and every skid coder would agree.

prilux - October 11, 2016, 10:10 am

No it isn't a lie, it's just something to appeal to the audience. Guess what? i got stuck with you!

Streaming Box V1 is small because it uses CSE API. CSE handles all the queries and show the most relevant results.

It's 90% result accuracy because the other 10% are for DMCA takedowns, deleted by the user, etc...

Let's smash something, your signature says 3 received bitcoins transactions. When truly you got 4 transactions and spend 1.

So are you telling a lie?

To update, it's safe. It is a .html file that has a custom google search. It works, but it's not a streaming app, it just is a search bar for finding a website that has the show you want to watch.

I don't daily check my wallet, my signature doesn't have to be instantly up-to-date.

I apologize for trashing your threads but you have to understand that posting download links to applications in the Website showcase section (the wrong section) makes it look really suspicious.

And you did lie about the database, since your tool is merely querying a search on public ones.

EDIT: that 4th transaction is BTC I bought from a friend when I needed to pay someone for a graphics service, and not a donation.

I didn't choose the section by mistake. It's a final product, but instead of putting up a site i present a download.

The main purpose for this to be a download is that eventually someone will copy it and save in the HD, this will save them time.

Lante - October 12, 2016, 9:02 am

But posting a thread in the wrong section, as is the case at the moment, is a violation of the rules. This section is simply in no way meant for downloads.

I forgot to include:

(Depending on the headaches that this may bring i strongly advise to create your own CSE query. I may inventually close the account. Instructions are in the archive!)

There is no site for me to F5, just a shitty C# Rat. Drop this thread.

Are you looking for the latest movies and you can't seem to find them. It happen to me yesterday while searching for "xXx: The Return of Xander Cage". I only found fake sites with the movie title on google but then i tried searching using "Streaming Box V2" and guess what a CAM copy was available.

Resident Evil: The Final Chapter (2016)

There isn't any available copies yet, make a search with "Streaming Box V2".
