

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: OUGC Awards not showing up on Axis Theme - 1.8.7 MyBB

Nevieth - October 11, 2016, 8:07 pm

Alright so I'm trying out a new theme (<http://myskins.org/Thread-1-8-Axis-Elegant-Free-MyBB-Multicolor-Theme-From-MySkins-Studio>) and I want my user awards to show up on posts and on their profiles. I've looked around the theme css and can't find anything that's keeping it from showing up. Everything is freshly updated and I'm running my forum off 1.8.7 MyBB. The site is www.nevieth.com for those who want to look through how I have it setup. My users already have awards given out but since I updated to a new theme they're not showing up, but when I change my default theme they're still there.

My issue is I can't find the box to enable awards on this theme.

Let me know if you need more information. I really appreciate the help!

VirtualFrost - October 12, 2016, 12:00 am

I could be wrong, but as Awards was installed before the theme, I think it hasn't put in the code to display awards, which means you'd have to grab it from your last theme and add it to your new theme. Another reason could be it's using different div class/id names to where it should be put in and so the awards plugin doesn't know where it is.

-Nath - October 12, 2016, 10:44 am

You'll need to place the variable in the postbit template for this theme.

Nevieth - October 12, 2016, 11:05 am

I'm an idiot! That might do the trick, I don't know why it never dawned on me that I never copied over the images/theme graphics over.

I'll give it a shot when I have more free time.

It worked! All it took was deactivating and reactivating OUGC Awards in the admin plugin panel... such a simple fix to such a huge headache. I'm dumb.

Thanks for everyone's help! +3 to all who posted, I appreciate it.
/locked