Thread: Doing leakedsource look ups for free

@Element - October 13, 2016, 11:43 am

As the title says send me the emails or which ever piece of info and I will send you anything the website brings back, if this is in the wrong section or against site rules then please move or remove and accept my apologies.

FiftyTwo - October 13, 2016, 11:44 am

It's against LeakedSource's rules and can get your subscription revoked without refund or warning.

Random lookups continuously can raise flags.

I doubt anyone cares on this website. People can do hundreds of searches everyday, especially when you have a weekly/monthly sub

I didn't stop OP from doing what he or she is doing, I didn't tell him or her that they should stop.
Therefore, I don't care whether anyone cares or not.
The choice lies in your hands, your choice doesn't really matter to me.

Do whatever you want OP. Thanks for contributing to the community.

Could be a bad idea.

SIK used LeakedSource to gain access to the admin accounts on multiple huge gaming forums and defaced them, their account was banned the next day for misuse.

Ok I see the point you're trying to get across. It's all up to him if he wants to look up information for others. I personally wouldn't care, because I probably paid for a whole days worth of access only to lookup 1 username, ending up with 23+ hours that will eventually go to waste. Good warning though. ?

Haha you're exactly right about the last part I've only needed it to look up one email so the other 23 hours will go to waste lol, although it wasn't a total waste because I have made a bit of head way with what I am doing and I haven't even received a single PM for lookups so there isnt much need for it for people on here.

muroseu - October 13, 2016, 1:51 pm

you cant even pm back so whats the point?

You can receive PMs. I'm actually surprised that you didn't receive one so far lol people beg here every day to look something up for them on the site.

I know bro! even I posted a thread for someone to do a database look up for me a few days ago before I was able to sign up on leaked source, maybe they dont trust me and think I will keep the information for myself.
