Your definition of business:

I define business as a hobby turned into a career. Business should always be thought of as rewarding, entertaining and motivating. Businesses should aim for the best outcomes for all parties involved.

Past Work/Resume:

- Apparel reseller on eBay
- Gambling expert (can clarify on this if needed)
- Bitcoin reseller
- Marketing minor
- Salesperson

(Happy to prove any of my claims)

Your personal area of interest:

Business IT as this is my area of study. I enjoy topics on marketing, finance and information technology. I'm interested in e-commerce, typically eBay, and have much experience in it. I'm currently in the process of starting up a Shopify shop as I've just learned about it. I'm interested in anything business related essentially.

Please don't be fooled by my low post count and prestige. I am happy to prove any of my claims and contribute to the group. Thanks ?

Your definition of business: In my opinion, business is basically making money in any way, whether it be dirty or clean business. If you have a source of cash flow, then you are considered a business man regardless of how you are earning your money. This can go as far as dirty money, clean money, and so on.

Past Work/Resume: I do not have a past work history as I work for myself and earn money myself. I do not enjoying working for other people, which made me who I am today.

Your personal area of interest: Personally, I enjoy being in the automotive industry, however, clearly enjoy making money and most of it goes towards my car, which is a huge investment.

Age:

18 Years old.

Your definition of business:

Business is a economic or commercial activity in which we exchange goods and service with a motto of maximum profit gaining where we have a risk of loss as well as we are giving our regular time i.e regularity and it gives market to new technology where we do our best to satisfy our costumer.

Past Work/Resume:

I was and I am still a successful trader. Used to flip money in Forex and Poloniex.

I can tell that I am experienced trader.

Also, I've worked in a restaurant company as a sales manager.

Your personal area of interest: Personal area of interest would be online monetizing and marketing.

I love having more businesses going at the same time, but not too many of them since I need to have time to track everything.

That's why I want to join Illuminati, to learn more things, to share my ideas and strategies and make new friends that are about business.

Age:

Your definition of business:

Business can be anything, it's what people do daily to survive, to show what they're able to do, to share their experiences and their skills with the rest of the people. There are people who call it business when they make profit, and there are people who call it business when their customers are satisfied, it's just how you look at it. For me, business is PROFIT. Without a good profit, there's no point in doing business. Instead of looking for how little I can give for a dollar, I look for how much I can give for the same dollar, but still get paid that one dollar.

Past Work/Resume:

CPA/PPD/Affiliate Marketing/Gambling/Stress-Testing/E-Commerce/Arbitrage

-/Dropshipping/Starting with Forex and Trading right now. There's some more but those are the things I've had most of my experience with.

Your personal area of interest:

I have a lot of interests, but I'm mostly interested in buying-reselling and investment strategies. Monetizing anything I can & marketing, I think you can call me a businessman. I have a lot of skills and I'd love to share them and benefit from others too. I've had some own projects/businesses, and I've sold a lot, and made my own money with it. You can check my threads if interested.

Age: 19

Your definition of business: A business is an organization formed to make money for those involved by providing a product or service to a interested consumer.

Past Work/Resume: The majority of the work I have done in my personal life has been working for political campaigns, and working in the restaurant industry between working for various campaigns. After this election cycle ends on November 8, I plan to work a night security job such that I can work on my own business ventures and studies while gaining nearly passive income simply by showing up. I've also made a good amount of money writing high school and college papers for those that I know personally and clients that I have met online. This personal venture has been relatively unorganized because the market is already quite saturated with professional services.

Your personal area of interest: Computer science and original business ideas are my passions. I am also a music lover, but that is a bit beyond the scope of this application. Optimal monetization of blogs, both for personal use and as a service sold to others interest me greatly at the moment, though I am also interested in other areas of internet-based business.

Age: 23

Your definition of business: Business is life. 10 years ago, when I was 13, I started my first online business. Ever since then my mind is fully focused on improving my skills. It is all about finding the limit. Where does it end? Does it ever end? Business is finding the limit. Life limits.

Past Work/Resume:

2006 - Started my first online business at the age of 13: Dropshipping
2007 - After an successful year I sold the business through my big brother's company since they did not know my age.
2007 - Started automating the process of creating, leveling up and selling accounts and currency for online games (mostly MMORPGs) such as WoW, Silkroad Online, Aion.
2009 - Sold the business above and started an online business regarding game codes, accounts, xbox live cards, psn cards and currency for various games
2011 - Sold the business above and started a luxury car rental with the money earned above
2012 - Started a few PPC business
2013-now - Started a Bot company for the online game serious "Fifa", which is the market leader ever since
2013 - Investor and helper for start-ups on and offline (so far 6 start ups, of which 5 were a great success)
2015 - sold the car rental to a big world-wide chain
2016 - Speaker at various events regarding start ups in germany

Your personal area of interest:

I am interested in almost everything regarding businesses. I am a full-time law student in the 7th semester in germany and a full-time business owner at the same time. Apart from anything that involves personal growth, I am interested in sports such as Football+Soccer.

If you would like to have any detailed information about the resume (such as company names), please contact me privately as I do not want to give them away to everyone.?

Vossen - October 26, 2016, 4:09 am

Age: 18

Your definition of business: A business is a corporate body aimed on buying, selling or trading goods or services (digital or real). A business owner/businessman therefore is someone who is interested in earning profit from this, often while outsourcing parts of the business or the complete project. However, business in a more individual definition for me is as well finding your own life purpose and developing yourself in the process.

Past Work/Resume:

2010: Started selling several services and flipping digital goods via online forums

2012: Started to read into marketing, entrepreneurship, personal development and all those topics

2014: Built up the biggest PS3 game modification service in Germany as well as built the most popular modding team in Germany (and possibly Europe next to well-known French Modding Team), made 4 figures a month from only selling tools dedicated to modding the PS3 and Xbox 360 as well as selling services through my team members (the whole process took no more than 3 months)

2015: Closed the team and sold several of the projects totalling 5 figures due to the fact that I wanted to move onto bigger projects

2014-2016: Built an immense network of businessmen, stars/popular people, millionaires/billionaires around the world with which I can get into possibly anything and own a ton of insider knowledge

2015: Co-founder of a legal Porsche 356 & 911 replica producer, importer (Europe) and seller (still active today, outsourced all my work) as well as a renting service dedicated to these cars

2016/To come: Building up my own business complex in mainly real estate and forex & stocks investing as well as a fashion line and a supplement brand

Your personal area of interest: Entrepreneurship in general, online marketing, social media building

You invest in your friend to have some good time and to become happy after you are sad.

Scale this on life. Because this what really is.

Past Work/Resume: Handled Digital Marketing for Big Hotels, a music band, 4 companies, and few restaurants.

Currently creating two businesses: Local and online one.

Your personal area of interest: Marketing, E-commerce.

P.S: Building two businesses currently. One online. And one offline.

Age:24

Your definition of business: I work from home, I lived life a little too fast and enjoyed fast bikes, and nearly decapitated my head, a string was lucky still hanging on, and I am making a great recovery. I discovered that pain is a huge part of life, that needs to be explored, without it, I would not have as much insight as I have today.

Past Work/Resume: I used to work in a circus spitting flames and juggling up to 5 military issued combat knives, my coordination has always been very good, and I struggled mentally, physically and financially to make these dream come true.

Your personal area of interest: I love everything that had to do with the internet, a personal tool that far too many take for granted, but sigh as I may, in the end it does benefit us.

I love listening to narratives of creepy stores, especially big compilations before I go to bed, and on a completely un-related note I am a big animal lover. I tend to go for the one's that do not domesticate easily, such as a Siberian tiger.

I gave you a little taste, make me who I am suppose to be , a part of your group, and disappointing will not even be in my vocabulary.

Age: 19

Your definition of business: A business is an organization formed to make money for those involved by providing a product or service to a interested consumer.

Past Work/Resume: The majority of the work I have done in my personal life has been working for political campaigns, and working in the restaurant industry between working for various campaigns. After this election cycle ends on November 8, I plan to work a night security job such that I can work on my own business ventures and studies while gaining nearly passive income simply by showing up. I've also made a good amount of money writing high school and college papers for those that I know personally and clients that I have met online. This personal venture has been relatively unorganized because the market is already quite saturated with professional services.

Your personal area of interest: Computer science and original business ideas are my passions. I am also a music lover, but that is a bit beyond the scope of this application. Optimal monetization of blogs, both for personal use and as a service sold to others interest me greatly at the moment, though I am also interested in other areas of internet-based business.

2073436 - November 3, 2016, 6:20 am

Age: 19

Your definition of business: Whatever the main goal is of the business, it has to be accomplished to call your own business successful. Yes, not every business is profit minded. CSR businesses are the main goal of each business.

I find it important to pay attention to each and every stakeholder in your business since that's what makes the whole business successful.

The people who work in the business should be happy with their pay and they should be working in a comfortable place.

Everything should be fair, no forcing people into doing this and that, like Coca Cola does.

But, the actual definition of a business is the activity of making, buying, or selling goods or providing services in exchange for money and as a goal to make profit (mostly)

There are also pop-up businesses at the moment which some of are doing pretty well.

Past Work/Resume: I've been doing business on hackforums in my free time, nothing serious. I've had a service on here which brought me around $4500 profit within a month in BTC.

I've also sold my ecommerce website (Shopify) on here for $1300+ which then got re-sold to a Chinese dude for $15k, I regret I sold it on HF and that I did not keep looking.

The website made me good money.

I'm in a groupchat with people who are very skilled within the ecommerce section, one of who earned $150k in 11 months or less, we discuss almost everything and we are very business minded people. In my opinion, every detail counts to make your business successful. Customer satisfaction is what keeps me going and which is absolutely important when starting a business.

But my main thing that I like doing and that I mostly do is marketing, to answer the question.

I'm experienced in talking to people, grabbing attention to wherever I need it and get sales. My support is also good, I am pretty patient compared to other sellers.

Your personal area of interest: I love learning about economics, marketing and more. I like economics since it all comes down to logic and psychology. I can easily know if a business fails or not since I've learned that in the past. Yes, I've failed with a few projects of mine - did I learn from my mistakes? Yes.

After all my experience in this topic, I've managed to master all the things I need to properly start a business.

I also like design, this can be very helpful for businesses too since design is very important and it gives the customers a feeling that they are working with a professional business and they will be satisfied.

I'm also a member of the Illuminati but I think that I'm also very fit for the business group section since that will definitely fit my skillset and I absolutely love it - I'm a very active dude and I'll be posting a lot.

My application is very little compared to what I actually know but I think that this is enough to suit the question you need to be answered and I'm very confident of what I've put on here.

Thank you for reading my application, sincerely.

Most people see a business and they think, well all I am supposed to do is sell something and then I'll be a millionaire overnight. It's not like that, and the only way someone will ever find out is by taking the step into actually owning one. If you don't feed it (aka put money back into it) you'll see yourself back in the unemployment line. There is alot more to a business than just a relationship between the vendee and vendor and that is something one must understand before diving into one. I mean you've probably seen what happened to couples who have children before they're even prepared to have one. It's a mess. Same thing with business, people get cocky and think it's their gateway to riches and so they dive into that relationship without preparation which in turn leads them to their own demise.

Past Work/Resume: Never actually had anything other than an internship in a local IT-Support store. However, right now I'm operating www.mrguidee.com which is an eBook marketplace and I've been doing that since January this year.

Your personal area of interest: I've familiarized myself with Word and Excel aswell as Wordpress these past few months and now that I run my own platform I've kind of gotten into HTML/CSS aswell as PHP. Not that good at it but I'm learning. I also love this "thing" called "Marketing" and the process of getting someone interested in what you have to offer whether it's free or paid. It's really fascinating when you come up with a marketing strategy for a certain offer, then implement it and see it work the way you planned it to. Makes you feel kind of good at it. Lol.

I'd love to be part of this sector not only because of its visible perks but because of the fact that it gives me the opportunity to kind of "surround" myself with like-minded individuals that I can not only help in fields of shared interest but also learn from. Thank you for considering this application, whether it's accepted or not.

Your definition of business: Business is collecting many things together - experience, intelligence, foresight, luck, dedication, talent, finance, technology - and forming those things into a homogeneous engine that creates goods and/or services so compelling that the customer is not simply "sold". Rather, they're seduced. And they come back over, and over again.

Past Work/Resume: I have 6 years of experience working as a licensed private investigator, with the last 2 years specializing in competitive intelligence. The majority of the CI contracts I take just involve surveillance and SE. On a couple of occasions, I've been contracted to get hired by the target and procure financial information, sales and inventory statements, future advertising copy, employee contact information/history, and the like. My client list is fairly small and I typically work three weeks out of every month.

Your personal area of interest: My ultimate goal is to transition as completely as possible into strictly infiltration work. So far, the largest company I've targeted was worth ~$12M. I would like to see that size increase dramatically. My skills and experience, coupled with a talented group that can provide technological support, would allow us to offer a service that is not just compelling, but extremely profitable.
