

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Port forwarding mess

05317832892 - October 15, 2016, 9:49 am

Getting a VPN then.....

StaveArkle - October 15, 2016, 11:25 am

Just get a port forwarding VPN if you can't figure it out

05317832892 - October 15, 2016, 12:01 pm

(Oct 15, 2016 11:25 AM)StaveArkle Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just get a port forwarding VPN if you can't figure it out

I thought if you had a VPN port forwarded you had to also port-forward your normal router.

Baitable - October 15, 2016, 12:17 pm

(Oct 15, 2016 12:01 PM)?Cam? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I thought if you had a VPN port forwarded you had to also port-forward your normal router.

No, the VPN is a virtual machine which redirects everyone that sends data to it to you, and everything you send data to, to it.

Nece - October 15, 2016, 12:19 pm

I'll help you mate. Hook me up.

05317832892 - October 15, 2016, 12:20 pm

(Oct 15, 2016 12:17 PM)Baitable Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) No, the VPN is a virtual machine which redirects everyone that sends data to it to you, and everything you send data to, to it.

So if I get a port forwarding VPN I can skip the router forwarding?

SIM-2985009 - October 15, 2016, 1:09 pm

(Oct 15, 2016 12:20 PM)?Cam? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So if I get a port forwarding VPN I can skip the router forwarding?

Yes, you need to only do port forwarding on the VPN.

Purple Kief - October 15, 2016, 1:58 pm

Get a VPN for the quickest fix.

Read one of my guides for secondary fix.

Contact me if non of the above worked. :)