Thread: iPhone Event Tomorrow! Will Apple Talk About iPhone 4 Problems, Verizon iPhone Or Not

Shifty™ - July 15, 2010, 10:06 am

Apple has just announced that tomorrow a press conference will be held in California, in order to talk about the iPhone 4. At the moment we don't know whether Apple will talk about the iPhone 4 problems including the signal strength, proximity sensor, and other minor details that are bugging the smartphone's users worldwide.

I, for one, don't believe that Apple will acknowledge the iPhone 4 antenna issues therefore we're not going to see an iPhone recall because there is nothing wrong with the smartphone's hardware. Apple will say once again that the iPhone 4 launch was the most successful in the company's history and that they can't keep up with the orders.

Also Steve Jobs, if he'll show up, will not say a word about the White iPhone 4 and will state once again that the a software update is coming soon which will introduce a new and more accurate way of calculating the signal strength.

Are you satisfied? Well, I hope not because we should ask more from Apple. Check our blog tomorrow, Friday 16th at 10AM PT to hear the latest news about what's happening at the iPhone 4 event. Another interesting thing that we'd like to see is the Verizon iPhone, though we know that it's very unlikely to see something like this.

Someone got an Iphone 4 and got problems with his phone?
Please post here!?

I would go as far as saying that iOS4 is completely and utterly terrible but the hardware...I mean come on...This is Apple? The fact that the whole thing is made out of metal and yet people complain about signal strength? Seems a bit odd to me. Lets see how many Android fans spaff off over the press release, should be fun.
