Thread: Someone here reported me to the police. How gullible are people, and

Woocommerce - October 23, 2016, 9:29 pm and why the hell do people automatically assume a deal dispute is 100% accurate and true. I could easily fake a deal dispute and tons of people would pour in on the accuser, and leave DWC reps. And why do people leave DWC reps without thoroughly looking through the report? I am being framed VERY hard right now.

In short:

- > Guy sends link where you can claim $340 CAD.
- > I see it and I am about to claim
- > Link goes bad, the money is claimed
- > Dude who sent it AUTOMATICALLY, without asking questions, assumes it was me
- > Opens scam report on me
- > I show proof I never took it, and he still insists it was me?

Now fucking what? Now it seems like I am a huge scammer when I indeed did nothing. I told the guy to reverse the damn funds, call the police, etc. Guess what? He tells the police MY information, leading them to the wrong person! I am so done right now, what the fuck!

Well when the police are through investigating you, you should post proof if they find you did nothing wrong. There were members saying you were acting very shady about the whole situation.

Also what were you guys using where you send a link to claim?

I would recommend using a more direct method next time.

No you can send a direct Interac link, no security question/answer required. Email doesn't matter either, it's literally a link and you choose your financial institution and deposit the money.

The guy that accused you of scamming has been a member since March 2016 and is Non-Upgraded (Completely unsuspecting and looks legit)

You've been a member for 25 days & have already bought L33T and are using the site as if you've been here before.

Now I don't wanna scrutinise your ass just because you've decided to contribute to the site while your account is at a young age.. However, it does seem like you're a ban evader / a multi attempting to scam vulnerable Non-Upgraded members.

You're giving away private information.

Although I'm a HUGE supporter of revenging a scammer who thinks he or SHE can do whatever they like... It's just not allowed to share private information.

Just saying. Good luck with this, I hope you'll get refunded. ?

Lets hope cops get him, if not just file a civil claim and take him to court for this. He'll end up in thousands of debt, enough to fuck his life up.

why would you even send money through somewhere that can be made public for anyone to claim?

You make it look like there's a fucking big-ass conspiracy against YOU, like you're some kind of poor wretched soul every little bastard out there wants to fuck with.

But guess what, you're just a chronic liar and the only conspiracy here is the one you're building by yourself with all your bullshits... and however, how STUPID you think we are?

I mean, you're no one, your profile is pure shit already, why would someone bother throwing shit at you so much? Unless you're Donald Trump or Pepe the fucking frog there is no damn point in doing that!

You clearly did something wrong, so stop acting like you're a victim, no one believes that shit.

Love the insults buddy, I almost felt something, however this says it all ^. All talk ,no proof :)

Try again!

Do I need a proof?

I don't think so.

:---P

I do think so, otherwise no point in posting here ;)
