Thread: Looking for ~ 5 beta testers for new Twitter bot

(?°?°)(???? - October 24, 2016, 5:27 pm

Hey guys, I've been working on a (quite) customizable web-based Twitter bot and I am looking for some beta testers to help test out the site and the functions and the such. The name is still under debate so I can't provide a final name yet (apologies!)

Please note: you don't have to use your main Twitter account for this. (Preferably, for testing purposes, please use a throwaway).

If you wish to help me test it out, please PM me with your skype. I'm looking for ~5 reputable members, maybe more if things go right.

If you need more information, feel free to post or PM me.

So basically, you set the different search terms you want. Tweets containing all of these words, none of these, some of these, etc. Tweets to a specific person, from a specific person, or mentioning a specific person. Tweets within a given area, etc).

After than, you set the actions that you want enabled, between:Favorite

Retweet

Follow

Unfollow

DM

For favorite/retweet, you can set the min/max number for each that the tweet much satisfy (like, only favorite tweets that have ≥ 5 favorites already but ≤ 7) or whatever.

For follow, it follows the person (obviously).

For unfollow, you can set a delay so it unfollows the user after X amount of minutes (so, follow them, 30 minutes later, unfollow them).

For DM, you can set a custom message such as: "Thank you [user] for mentioning me in your tweet!"

EDIT: And for each one of them, you can set the % that it activates. 1.0 = 100% activation rate, 0.4 = 40% activation rate, etc.

Still looking for a few beta testers please; I can compensate you with a premium account on the service once I start advertising it.

GUI is a bit basic but imo I could care less about it as long as what I bought works. I'm not sure if I'm doing something wrong or not but I downloaded and uploaded the given default config but it's not doing anything. I hit start and all it says in the logs is that it starts/stops monitoring and that's about it.
