Thread: an open letter to apple + microsoft

thank you apple, your new devices allow for an extra input on the device on the keyboard area via a new screen - I don't see android pcs or microsoft laptops doing this!!??!?!?

just another reason to never buy a microsoft pc and always stick to iOS.

You've been able to do this with samsung s5 and later, you can be on twitter while watching a yt video. Apple is inferior.

Edit: I believe you're referring to laptops/desktops, what're you smoking?

Why on earth would you want something like that anyway, that'd lower the price imo, not increase it.

As I said, not the best example but the whole concept of a dynamic set of controls next to the keyboards of laptops is not new.

By definition, though, they are PCs. Either in the sense of a Personal Computer or a Pocket Computer.

Either way, OP is a retard confirmed kthxbai.
