Thread: Quick JQuery job need done \(\$15\)

This code is already half writting, the only problem here is that I need the following:

It already displays the post count correctly and I can make a relative guess on when to press submit, however I want there to be a text box where I can input any number I wish and when the counter hits one number before the value I entered into the text I want it to press submit and post it for me.

It's a "GET" script for 4Chan. I'll post what it is currently below. If you want to try it out you need 4Chan X (Google).

Here's the free semi-broken code below:

I'm asking that after the purchase the script not be shared.

So if Current post count is 500 and then you say post on 599 it submit when the post count hits 599. Am I right?

So yea I can fix the code for you when I wake up cause need to check existing code, hope you can pay via BTC?

Since PayPal is not a reliable source to deal with on forums.

EDIT: Also I do not really see how to use your current script.. Are you using Tampermonkey or something or what, please more detail you can PM me

I can pay in BTC.

Here's what I mean:

Say current post count is 500. I enter into the text box that I want it to post on 555. So in the text box I enter "555". Now the form will actually click "Submit" when the post is at 554 not 555 because I want the post # 555. So, current post count hits 554 and boom, the script hits post to make the post be post #555

Yea that isn't that hard tho, but now is more the thing is for what did you build this script? For Console Usage, Tamper/Grease Monkey or whatever. Ill fix it for you I have some solutions in mind.
