Seems like the trend right now so why not.

I have TWO EXCLUSIVE SUB-FORUMS valued at $600 ($300 each payment to Omni). I'm using the money to reinvent myself and buy expensive outfits so I can look cool for my new instagram accounts.

You can keep the logo and everything because I'm a nice guy.

Hmu with them offers. I can work with payment plans depending on your offer.

BIN 6.5k - BTC only unless you wanna meet in person and pay in cash. MMs through Omni.
7k BTC if you have a payment plan. Payments can be arranged to MM with Omni where you get ownership on final payment.

I remember a while ago we got into an argument and you claimed you would not let the group go for less than $10k as you "control" the price of your group. Anyhow, Formula 1 is offering $3000 for a group. Wildly low I know but maybe you can work out something with him in terms of the price.

Whatever the case, good luck to you.

Jokes aside, I doubt this is really gonna sell until someone comes up with an actual offer.

I think you misunderstood the concept of the argument, which was that I denote the value of the item I'm looking to sell. If I want my group to be $10k, that's what I'm selling it for. No one can buy it from me for cheaper than what I make the price. Someone was trying to say that the group isn't worth that, and that's where I said it's not their decision lol Offers for payment plans. Initially I contemplated accepting below the BIN and then got a few offers fairly close that went up after I was the only group for sale.

In any regard, I don't plan on going below that anymore. I have no real desire to sell. Just thought I'd put it out there for the right price.

I get offers for 5k when I list it for 6k. Now I get offers of 6k since I raised it to 6.5k. If this doesn't sell soon I'm gonna make it 7k and sit.

Yea I remember. It was pretty funny. Anyway why is that relevant?

I really hope you wouldn't compare me to him.

Since when do I have to justify myself for asking a question?

In case you are confused--it looked like an implication that there was something to be compared, and I responded to gain clarity in hopes that I was mistaken.

You don't "have" to do anything. Just as I don't "have" to be silent.

Sure thing but clearly I wasn't confused and you don't have to reply in a butthurt way. I was merely curious on how long noobility waited to have his group sold. I can understand that you might be afraid to wait that amount of time to get yours sold for the BIN you are asking too. Linking a simple question with it is sort of understandable too.

but let's be honest you'll wait that long too lol unless you drop to 4.5-5k

Oh well I must have taken it completely the wrong way. As far as you being concerned with me waiting that long, don't (although I appreciate you looking out)!

I'll be okay with running my group until someone decides they want to buy it for themselves. ?

No need to be concerned at all if anything it will bring entertainment.

That's subjective though. Entertainment for some at the annoyance of others. The amount of people that are back and forth on these groups is irritating.

You have to really try not to take any offer seriously until Omni messages you.

Group has been sold for BIN.
