The email which is linked to my account is my personal main , i use it for other purposes too so i won't be giving it away.

I have no reason to take back the account , thats why i sell it.

I don't play games anymore , i have more important things to do with my life.

And yes i would go first to a trusted member , otherwise i would use a Middleman you can get the Origin Access for just 4 Eur a month without contract and get almost all battlefields for free as long as u pay 4EUR a month.
