Thread: [\[Community Alert\] Neos07 possibly infecting members](#)

Temp_reassign - November 8, 2016, 6:14 am

Hi everyone,

I know there are lots of us out here who gets ripped off(as me) and do not say a word about it...we just move on.

Why? Not because we are too rich..no never that. It is because many of us have no time. Not all of us sits in front of our computers and get all the extra time for a cry thread about how some low lifers scammed us.

I first had dealings with Neos07 far back in April.

Profile UID: <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=2698612>

Skype Profile: Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Then I needed a spoofer. He PMed me an offer, I accepted and I paid.

Although this spoofer was being giving for free on the forum, however, it was OK with me to pay since i needed certain features removed. We ended up dealing over Skype. Satisfied, I further introduced my cousin to buy the same spoofer. Somehow, Neos07 started to suggest to me if I'd like for him(Neos07) to sneak in a hack within the source for the spoof he was gonna sell to my cousin. I politely declined it wasn't necessary.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Looks like he has a knack for being sketchy.

Anyway, he finally delivered the spoofer supposedly made for my cousin.

First I got a browser warning during the download..strange eh? But you know, curiosity killed the cat.

I went on to download. Like some of us, i barely use anti-virus until when I want to do a thorough pc cleansing. I knew I was infected. My browser behaviour changed.. now i wished I had kept that particular file but i deleted after cleaning.

Notice the dates on this chats...I even sent him photo shots of my findings. Spoiler \(Click to View\)

CHATS....

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

I m not all that nooby. The dates, time of download, all coincided with when he sent me that file back then.

All fingers pointed to him as the perpetrator but you know, I just told myself, maybe I was over thinking things. But even a noob on here knows one thing: Never be quick to download/accept a link. Especially not over Skype.

Well, i discarded the exe file and told myself, fuck this loser. We done!

Months later, one thing led to the other..I started to need a particular feature. Wanted a feature added to the spoofer.

I thought of buying a new one but the cost wasn't worth it if i could somehow implement the function

I needed on the one i already had(later found source was public) but I haven't started learning VB so I gave up skidding around the program.

After a few days with no solution, i decided again,"fuckit! let me just ask this dude".

CHATS.....

Spoiler (Click to View)<http://epvpimg.com/vPQgf>

Now, I am not a specialist in reverse engineering. But you don't have to be to know what is infected or not.

His excuse to me sounded bogus. And he never answered my question about HOW it was for other users. 200 people could never go quiet if their file ever flagged false positive. I know netseal on its own might flag for virus, the ratio from his file was overboard. Ok ok..maybe I am just paranoid but correct me if I am wrong..what is the ratio for false positive that can be considered clean? 23 virus engines(out of 55) says it isn't. Spoiler (Click to View)

So I decided to ask around myself. I went in on his thread and randomly asked users I suspected bought the same spoofer. Guess what? Those who replied confirmed that,"they never had any virus issue(s) with their program". Except for the last Uber user on his sales thread <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5325843&pid=53031157#pid53031157> who thought or rather tried to explain to me, it could just be netseal.

Hf good fellas, I may appear new, but I have been around(you are welcome to call me a multi but I am not. Me old profile was wreckt/rep killed for some reasons dunno), seen unbelievable shit. This Moroccan moron raised abuses at me(his sense of self defense) and went ahead to remove me from his Skype(as if that makes him appear legit). I am laughing at his ignorance.

I am not in ANY way bothered about the 10$.. I am here making this alert so people know it isn't about the reputation but to be cautious with this user Neos07..look around the threads on here, folks with more reps than him slips and most gets busted.

Ask me what I want? Spoiler (Click to View)I just want to beat the crap out of him..u 're lucky this is an internet forum. God knows how much I wanna break my fist on your African face. I don't even know this b!tch from Adam.

oops seems like a legit community Alert Thanks for making this thread i was going to buy his 3in One email bomber this week to try But no thanks neos . Thank god #yousavedmymoney

Brotherhood. - November 8, 2016, 6:19 am

Never thought Neos7 would do this, he seems like a legit guy, maybe im wrong.

seems legit tho :)

Temp_reassign - November 8, 2016, 7:06 am

Anyone wanting to give the file a shot can request it. Trust is some serious issue people take for granted.

Neos07 - November 8, 2016, 7:10 am

I never tried to infect him, or anyone on this forum, I don't use a rat at all now, I helped people get rid of infections:

Find this pretty hard to believe, tbh.

Doubt Neos07 would infect members on here.

Armada - November 8, 2016, 7:14 am

Looks valid, but I have a real hard time with the report in general.

NEOS07 has only ever been a helpful member around the community.

Id need Binary samples to believe this report TBH.

Guys, it's false accusations, it's false positives because of NETSEAL, you can find the same scan on any program using netseal, if he says it's infected, he should show proofs of that, my dns or my ip found in the rat, I alraedy don't use a rat, why would I risk my reputation for stupid pcs, he might be already infected, if he asked me I would help him.

If this is getting this serious, I want a check from a professional, I don't want this get too escalated, I never thought infecting somebody on HF, I exposed people who tried to, and helped people get rid of the infection.

I'm now asking somebody to come to check the source code and scans etc.

If you and OP will send me the samples I will get to the bottom of this today.

All I need is a sample and I will be able to tell you what it does exactly, wouldn't mind the one from OP as well.

I'm inviting anyone to come to check my PC or the source code.

I highly doubt Neos07 would selectively infect this nobody.

The mega link you sent him.

Neos07 - November 8, 2016, 8:01 am

Logically, why would I lust for his pc or anybody's else? someone like me is believing that ratting won't get you nothing but troubles, okay, let's consider I'm thinking about infecting somebody, why would I risk my profile and my reputation and my business here on HF, for his pc, that I have nothing to profit, I'm here doing business, helping people. if he's saying it's infected, he should atleast get some details about me, like DNS or my IP, maybe he was already infected and when he has seen the virus scan and teh false positives caused be netseal, thought it's me, if he wasn't so offensive and didn't start to accuse, I would have helped him, as I helped many people get rid of the infections, I exposed some skids on HF who tried to infect members via some programs with their dns and ips and other informations.

Says every scammer on HF. Not saying you did it but just because you have a reputation to lose doesn't mean you didn't do it.

Electrons - November 8, 2016, 8:06 am

Hmm, I can see why folks think it is impossible. Although going by the read, looks legit imo. OP I think can not respond since his rep has been taken away. Nice way to keep him quiet.

Sho?kwave - November 8, 2016, 8:07 am

Neos sent me a mega link that's supposedly from the OP, I managed to quickly decompile it, despite being the product using public methods with a somewhat nice looking GUI, it's clean.

EDIT: The link Neos sent me does in fact have the same hash as the one shown in the OP, definitely 100% clean.

I already told you, don't get your personal problems here. it's not thousands of dollars, it's somebody's pc, and I don't give a fuck about it and I wouldn't risk a shit on it, and I already don't care about it.

Check the hashes, the one from his screenshot, and the hash of the rar file.
or just try to scan it on virustotal and see the MD5 line.

He's got a fair point, I mean Anonymous was moving retarded amounts and used the same excuse of "Why would I steal his $100 when I make 50x that in a day". It's just not a valid excuse.

Glad to see it was a false alarm though.
