

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: 7 year testimonial.

Blazin - November 10, 2016, 4:32 pm

Hello all.

I joined hackforums about 7-8 years ago. I started like most of you. Trying to learn things and advance my current knowledge. I started my own business just before I got on hackforums but things didn't take off until I started marketing it on here. I was able to learn a ton about hosting and vps and dedicated servers. I decided to start selling on here my first name was actually "loverboy" on here. I ended up learning a ton more from various subjects and topics.

I can honestly say hackforums has truly changed my life, and outlook. It gave me a chance to get my products out to more people and make a few friends along the way. I never actually joined a community before and stayed, this is probably the only one.

I enjoy the Admin (Omni) He does a terrific job here with all the work he does by himself we truly owe it to him. & As well as the staff Factor8, very humble man. Given me a second chance when I didn't feel like I deserved it. Staff pushing everyone to be better members to each other.

Seven or eight years pass and we take things to now. I still appreciate and enjoy this forum the same as I did maybe even more now. Hackforums has changed me and made me more business minded.

I thank you Hackforums & Omni as things wouldn't be the same for me had I not of gone down this path.

:) <3