Thread: pCheeto review

AliceAllen - November 11, 2016, 7:38 am

I've been looking for trigger + bhop as many as you might have noticed.

However, 50USD for trigger + bhop, got it 1-2 hour after purchase.

Bhop worked for a few minutes when I joined a server and then stopped working. When it worked it didn't really work (under 250speed) and my AHK is better no joke.

Trigger: Triggerbot had 2 options, auto-shoot and hold key. I had hold key, but it still auto-shoot. Trigger is way to obv if I have auto-shoot on.
Got a new build on trigger, but it kept auto-shooting.

Asked for refund (50$), they offered 25$. I later accepted the 25$ refund but then they wanted me to wait for their new build.

And now im writing this.

I don't know much about coding, but from their side the cheat/build is working perfect and it's only problem from me. They obv don't trust me about their build not working and tbh I don't blame them. If it works for EVERYONE else (whoever they are) it should work for me but it didn't.

I do believe this is a fast c+p, and a refund should been given out.
I feel bad for making a thread like this but maybe it happen to more people! ?
[Sorry for bad English]

BHOP has been fixed in the new update.

Triggerbot has been improved even more.

But thanks for the review.

You bought a cheat for 50 bucks? Why?

Brotherhood. - November 11, 2016, 12:30 pm

His was a completely different thing from pCheeto.

Technically, he didn't buy pCheeto, he just bought a trigger + bhop.

1-2 hours to code a trigger + bhop is relatively easy to accomplish.

Menalix - November 11, 2016, 3:24 pm

For a private requested trigger + bhop, 50$ is really not much.

Now I see some claim that it's C+P, for 50$ it better be, that doesn't have to mean he copied it of somebody else, but rather of some of his old products, modified a little here and there to fit the customers demands, which I find completely understandable, no one would code a scratch tb + bhop for 50$, unless they were stupid, better of working at a grocery market then.

I do think it sounds like the seller, did not test the cheat enough though.

Ye if you work very progressively and skip all testing and doesn't accommodate for any security measure implementations and doesn't give a shit about the looks of your code.

Do you think this HF cheat has any security implementations? I didn't mention security at all, and with the current state of VAC nothing is needed.

I was not really refering to VAC only, but rather, the aspects of protecting your code and product ending up in the wrong hands, which is a really important matter when it comes to VAC and making your product is only available by purchasing.

I mean, we use things to protect it from being leaked etc.

Oh okay. I agree with you that with security implementations this could not simply be done in 1-2 hours.

Please do note, that his build (only trigger (incross) + bhop) was a old project which we quickly updated offsets + added security and sent it to him, like I said, he technically didn't buy pCheeto, and what he bought wasn't from scratch, so just save your time and stop trying to sales trash.

Why would you use a old project you probably have sold to others. There's a difference between using a couple base classes from old projects e.g Math class, Vector class etc but if you just updated the offsets of an old build when your saying he is getting a private cheat which no one else has? Also why didn't you just admit that from the start?

It's not old as in, old old, lol. Just a project we started on not too long ago, which no one else has access to, so still a private build I guess. and tbh, idk.

Okay I guess fair enough just seems weird that you didn't quickly test it was working fine since it really isn't that hard to check takes 1min.

You should stop explaining yourself like your someone's bitch. Let your customers post whatever and continue providing your services without answering to these ignorant detected jealous providers here on Hackforums.

You do realize "customer" in the term "customer service" means that if you're assisting them in any way; that's customer service. You can't give someone customer service who isn't a customer.. I think your brain fails to realize that. It's probably because you live in Orlando or some shit and get piped up on dope and loses IQ points.

But well you see people opening complaints like these, is rather aiming at hurting someone's cheat service, than actually asking for customer service, when a customer gets to this point, there is often no means to bring him "home" again, and if there is, the time to do this, is anyways better invested in making current customers happier, or finding complete new ones.

No reason to de-value good customers on bad ex-customers by servicing them.

I bought this cheat more then 2 weeks ago and asked for a refund over 1 week ago. I'm just putting this as a warning. 50USD is not very much for me but for some it's more. I was expecting a refund but I didn't get it so.

A cheat owner has the right to deny service to anybody. I do it plenty of times and don't feel bad about it. If I don't like you, you're not getting access to my cheats. It's no secret that I'm not trying to run a business here. I don't even have a sales thread on HackForums.

If a provider has to come to you for you to buy their hack then you better stay away from them.
