I just finished watching it and I have to say it was a great journey. Just a really good slice of life anime, a story about finding it's own path and discovering new things. The art style is amazing, the rythm, the voices, the musics, I can't find anything negative about it. It's one of those anime where you discover japanese culture in ways you rarely see with characters you get attached to more and more with each episodes. Just something that makes you smile. ?

I wouldn't recommend this to younger people or shonen addicts, but i would highly recommend to any anime fan or just anyone feeling down with a few hours to lose.

Can't wait to find more like this.
