one extreme or the other won't get u anywhere

find the middle ground and the most important thing, is confidence. be confident but not an arrogant dbag and you'll be good

All depends on the female to be honest. My current girlfriend won't put up for no bad boy bullshit. She want's a nice guy who treats her with respect.

fapninja - November 13, 2016, 4:55 pm

Just be a good guy who isn't pathetic.

Mafty Navue Erin - November 13, 2016, 5:46 pm

It seems that the majority of girls want a bad boy. I mean nice guys generally finish last but it's possible.

nice guys are definitely last, no doubt there but "bad boys" are temporary at best

middle ground + confidence

Well somewhere in the middle and dont give to much inportance to a woman and dont make her your universe

Nice guys finish last

ScottishPup - July 13, 2023, 9:24 pm

Good guy, be who you are

Yanix - July 13, 2023, 9:58 pm

Although it is generally true that goodness tends to be noticeable, I have observed instances where certain girls still desire to be with a guy despite being aware of his negative traits.

But for me I guess to be on the good guy would be the best choice.

Fortunate - July 14, 2023, 3:54 am

Girls who are attracted to bad guys are usually insecure or have some kind of issues with their parents. Goes both ways.

It's just a facade.

Era643 - July 14, 2023, 7:16 pm

I feel like they want bad guys then complain if they're treated badly so def middle ground between the 2 would be best

Celeezey - July 15, 2023, 4:10 pm

Every time I see this statement or ask myself this question I Instantly go back to a quote I heard that I'm sure is cliché but it is such a good response to this

"Don't be a nice guy, Be a good Man"

Basically when something comes around that confronts or questions your belief's or moral's/values you need to be a GOOD MAN not a NICE GUY. you have to respect and take care of yourself first before being a people pleaser.

When everyone becomes "Adults", things change drastically. I wouldn't worry about it too much and just let life naturally take its course. You'd be surprised how much tension you start feeling just rushing out of you.
