When's the next season? I'm hyped. I've been sad since the last arc ended, man the shows so funny, even though the last arc was serious, it was a pretty epic arc IMO. Gintama is always so good.

I tried to get into Gintama but it became unbearable after several episodes. The randomness outweighed the action, which was a no-no in my book.

i think i felt the same way when i first started gintama that it had no real plot but then i decided that i would watch about 3 episodes per day and sometimes not watch it for days but after a while it grows on and then u just start to binge watch it.

once u finish it u will know why its a great anime and u wont regret it
