Thread: How Can I Find Old Threads?

funtela - November 17, 2016, 6:44 am

I'm looking for a specific thread, well actually it's 2 of them that I posted about 1-2 years back in the Innuendo and Lounge section. I can only see up to 25 pages of my threads and the search function doesn't seem to search that far back :/

I don't know the exact titles of the threads either. Is there any way to find them?

Use the search function and search by username and section.

do you know what they were generally about? Using google dorks such as

Code search phrase site:hackforums.net

Look on Your Threads. Then just start from the oldest page and work yourself forward.

I can't do that because it only goes back 25 pages. And I've had way more threads than that lol. Maybe 50-100 pages worth haha.

I typically use Google for things like this, as the Ruler of Omicron Persei 8 said earlier.

How would I do it though? I remember maybe a few words in the title.

maybe a few words in the title.

What are the few words that you remember, love?

Usually a few words are enough; something like

"site:hackforums.net Ryan Reynolds a few words" will work.

Tried that but I was only able to find one of them :/ I'm trying to find three but I can't find them. It's for a thread I'm going to make that I need advise on. If it helps, it has to do with love and my ex.

The threads you're looking for appear to be in the lounge.
