Thread: UB3RS Just love giving negative rep...

Crosshair5599 - November 18, 2016, 6:12 am

As you guys may of heard, my account was hacked. The person tried to hijack a members runescape when the member wanted someone to help him beat a boss or something . So the OP posts a screenshot of the email notifying him that someone tried to disable the 2 factor authentication on his RS account. Now because of that I get a lot of neg rep I DESERVE because I didn't secure my account, but it's been two fucking days and I've enabled 2 factor authentication on my HF account. I convinced some people to remove rep because I took steps to secure my account and they agreed, but that fucking thread where the hacker tried to hijack a runescape using my account is still up and it's being bumped here and there and more neg rep just keeps coming in, despite all the work I did to get neg rep removed. Then these fucking dumbasses are like "I need proof" or they just don't listen when I try to discuss the situation cause they love hitting the neg rep button... What do I do now?

Example _____

Crosshair5599 - November 18, 2016, 6:17 am

This forum really has a persistent problem of people not doing anything wrong and getting rep fucked. Of course I should have secured my account better, but I'm just getting more and more neg rep every day from the same incident...

Powder - November 18, 2016, 6:18 am

I don't think you're allowed to show PMs outside of the deal dispute section.

Crosshair5599 - November 18, 2016, 6:18 am

I don't care about getting more neg rep, because I'm just tryna to point out a fault with this forum, my reps bad enough for no reason...

Torc - November 18, 2016, 6:24 am

Yeah, calling them dumbasses isn't going to help your case there buddy. Just neutral them and move on. That's what I do for people who give me negative reputation. No point in bitching about it because odds are if you PM'd them and they won't change it, they aren't going to change it when you make a public thread and bitch about it calling them dumb asses.

I would rather congratulate someone on doing something good than to give them negative feedback.

However, there are plenty of scammers/idiots here so a neg 3 is acceptable in some cases.

Is - Sam - permanently denied ub3r or something.

Yeah don't we all, if I can solve a problem with a member then I'll attempt to solve it. Negs are kind of seems as a taboo on your profile, so if you've got a chance to resolve that why not. I'm all for getting along with others and if there really is an issue between me and another user I'll just call it quits and leave it at that.

Edit: I also think how you come across plays a huge part in it.
