Quote:So paid some joker $30 (was going to be $70 or some crap) to help me build a similar styled forum as one I saw however all he did was rip the theme (which I can do myself) and now is tryna get me to pay the rest?

I mean, I don't care about the $30 I sent up front, he can keep his ripped theme and sell it to some other joker but I don't think I should have to pay the rest when he didn't do shit all.

My original thread where I ask someone for assistance to build the forum, not rip it.
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5457670>

But hey, for real - if yall think I should just pay him the extra $50, I have no issue with just getting it over and done with but would rather get some input on this first to make sure it's dealt with.

Have I helped? Please consider tipping

Okay, seen as you made this into a thread I'm actually going to take the time to break you down into the tiny little peices that these users deserve too see, I will also back-up and show proof of every little aspect your small mind has overlooked. I'm honestly angry at you, I was relying on this job to fund my week at work this week and you've left me speechless so it's worth the post to show exactly how much of an asshole you've been too me and that other users should not go within a mile of dealing with you. First off I'll provide our whole HF conversation as I see it as completely valid in this situation.

<https://gyazo.com/ab5ebbfd1f1f13fe4bb35d01343da706>

Everything after this is just us talking shit to each other about how apparently you asked me to copy the layout of the website you specifically told me to copy the layout So, I mocked the layout using my base theme from # (which according too Mr Robot the internet detective is also ripped. My base theme is used for all my designs, as it features multiple features I personally like to give my customers. Here is what I created, it isn't finished whatsoever it was a concept, but it would take a few hours to complete from this stage;

<https://gyazo.com/7af5ac79a8bf40edcf3c763526e342f6>

Quick note; the user place at the top of the board he specifically asked for (check PM logs) But it was still not ripped, it was coded by me, ask any designer how hard it is to make a bar and a circle. Thought I'd add that seen as I know some of you kids will be like omg rip!

Here is a link too the website he told me to copy, which he is claiming I ripped;

<https://gyazo.com/4df6a7e15fc883de5d90ec3c35aee6fc>

Okay now let's discuss what was asked of me. He specifically linked this forum in his thread, when I asked in PM he said he wanted it the same. So I took the layout I created the same style from my base theme and I showed him the example and he liked it, but then he came up with this bullshit about how he was in an earthquake, couldn't afford to pay and didn't expect me to finish it so fast, yet now all of a sudden, he was never going to pay me as I "ripped" the theme. Any designer will tell you that I did not "rip" this theme, and I'll be releasing this theme to prove that once it's finished so this scumbag gets all the attention he deserves.

TL;DR

I don't expect you too pay me, you're a scammer, you just abuse your status on the website to gain peoples support.

I'd like to say quickly again. Every line in this theme is my own, every class is my own, and any images used are from Transparenttextures.

Mr. Robot - November 19, 2016, 7:03 pm

Paid you $30 for nothing. You ripped the source of the site even leaving the original site logo which is exactly how it looks when ripping and importing the theme.

You haven't given me any files, you have the $30 I gave you. I said my budget was $80 but I wasn't wanting to spend that much on this.

Cheers.

As I stated in PMs, you can accept the $30 and leave it at that and sell your "custom theme that isn't ripped" or you can just continue being silly and trivial.

I could care less about being refunded the money - upgrade some normal member or buy an award to contribute to the forum

I wont lie - nor have I.

I had a budget of $80 or just over depending on the work done. Up until I saw the work you had done and the exact same work someone else messaged me with that was just ripping the theme, I saw what you did.

I have no issue with paying maybe $50 if you can provide 100% proof that it is not ripped, based on the image you first provided me with, it looks completely ripped. I don't feel like your work is worth the money but there is no way in hell I am paying you $80 for that shit show of a job you did.

Already paid you $30, keep that in mind. So don't go around calling me the scammer. I have received 0 files from you and you have the money.

Our deal was for 80$ and you did not pay, yet I have done the work.. The theme is not ripped, not one peice of code is ripped. Whoever "ripped" the theme for you simply downloaded it, which I did not do. Are you mentally retarded, does any of it look the same besides THE BASE LAYOUT which is what you asked for, I then made everything else look similar as that is what you wanted, any of it could have been changed, but you said you we're happy with it. How about this, stop commenting and making yourself look like an idiot until you have some factual evidence that I ripped this theme, because you know I didnt.

Right first off I haven't even seen the files nor touched them - I am only going by what others have shown me by ripping the theme and importing it onto mybb.

Why should you refund me? Because I haven't received any work for my money, I also asked at one point to set it up - which I mean, wouldn't that be included in what I requested in the thread.

"Looking for someone to build me a forum"

Why would I pay you $30 up front to receive nothing, then be expected to pay the rest of the "BUDGET" (being $50) when the site is not setup, nor have I received the files? Wouldn't that be asking for $80 (the complete budget) up front?

What kind of nonsense is that? I thought that's why I paid $30 up front?

You paid 30$ upfront so that I could spend the time creating the base design of the theme, once completed the final amount is paid and then I'm send you all of the files to the theme, this is the exact reason I do not send the files before, payment. You have scammed me for hours of my time, and yes in the real world this is a thing, but it is something a lot of people undervalue. You asked me to do a job and I did it and I was not paid. $30 is fuck all, 50$ is fuck all, but I need the money and you have scammed me for no reason. Once the final payment is sent I send the files and I setup everything for you, it's simple, sorry if I'm repeating myself I'm just trying to get it into your head.

Never once did you state "Non refundable deposit" while doing the work or on any thread of yours for a service of building/ripping a site.

Right now you have scammed me for $30 and all I have to show for it is 2 screenshots -

Please refund my money before I take this off site and get legal guidance for small claims court.

Darkwin - November 19, 2016, 7:34 pm

I'll have to side with Phixel, From what i gather Mr.Robot left a deposit for work to be done and after being shown the progress he says 'someone' has brought to his attention it was a ripped theme however not much evidence is shown on the thread to prove that the theme is actually ripped other than suspicion on his part. Frankly until you can post a link/image of another forum using the EXACT theme, then your claims have zero merit.

Phixel should just either keep the deposit until the remainder is paid or if no effort to finish the payment is made then just discontinue working on the theme.

But for real though, the 30$ deposit is refundable, if it was my fault. If I had done something wrong, or I had messed you around I would refund it, as I have in the past, but for you to attempt to scam me, and then ask for a refund, which is the only payment I have for 7 hours of time, maybe it would have been beneficial to all of us if you were closer to where that earthquake struck as you don't seem to be much a benefit to this earth.

No the reason for not paying him is right now all my money is in Eth or trying to sell my Runescape account as I upgraded a user and bought the Eth award for someone which is all good and well. I expected this job to take 2-3 weeks before payment (only being a maximum of $80 total. $30 of which has already been paid) so $50 total left to spend on this. This should include hosting but I have not been shown anything.

I am not paying more money for nothing, he wanted me to pay for it and set it up which is fine - misunderstanding on what "Building a forum" means I guess which is on both of us but up until probably yesterday morning I was prepared to give him another $30. Personally I could care less if it's ripped or not.

The fact that I have to pay $30 for 2 screenshots and then be asked for the rest "Up front" ?? No when you make a payment up front, then you receive the work and pay the rest. I have gotten absolutely 0.

Nah, that's not how this works, and you just admitted that you we're lying before about the $30 total amount. And I have never sold a theme that hasn't had an upfront payment, work is not refundable, once sent to you it's gone, and you can do anything you like with it. So if this is to be resolved this is how it goes down. You send the 50$ remaining, I finish the theme and I send it to you and set it up for you. You also never mentioned hosting, so I could throw that in there if you are nice to me and be more respectable seen as you might finally be coming to your senses after realizing that you have attempted to scam me. If you send this payment, and do not have a live website within one week, you can have my account closed. If no payment is sent you will receive nothing, your 30$ was a deposit for my time. It was a trust barrier that I thought we crossed to prove you we're legit, as I do with all my customers.

This will never pass in a small claims court as you aren't smart enough to realize you are in the wrong not me. Sorry, but your luck isn't in today, I don't barter with scammers.

Yes he could have. He could have also finished the job, hosted the files and linked me before asking for more money and opening a scam report because I said I aint gunna pay him more for the work he's done -

Please note, I said I wasn't going to pay him more out of frustration at the time as he was pushing for funds and I had received no files/links to look at. I am not going to pay "Up front" for something only for the user to then ask for more "up front".

(Nov 19, 2016 08:45 PM)Phixel Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nah, that's not how this works, and you just admitted that you we're lying before about the $30 total amount. And I have never sold a theme that hasn't had an upfront payment, work is not refundable, once sent to you it's gone, and you can do anything you like with it. So if this is to be resolved this is how it goes down. You send the 50$ remaining, I finish the theme and I send it to you and set it up for you. You also never mentioned hosting, so I could throw that in there if you are nice to me and be more respectable seen as you might finally be coming to your senses after realizing that you have attempted to scam me. If you send this payment, and do not have a live website within one week, you can have my account closed. If no payment is sent you will receive nothing, your 30$ was a deposit for my time. It was a trust barrier that I thought we crossed to prove you we're legit, as I do with all my customers.

This will never pass in a small claims court as you aren't smart enough to realize you are in the wrong not me. Sorry, but your luck isn't in today, I don't barter with scammers.

There is no $50 remaining - not for you unless you complete the job, host it and finish any adjustments I ask. The budget was for top of the line work on what I WANTED AND PROPOSED. You did not meet that criteria but provided with the screenshots I was shown, I can only offer you an extra $20 total.

Also yes this will pass in small claims court mate, I have been many times for smaller shit. I don't scam people and I don't rip them off. I make sure I state what I have to state.

If you fail to use your brain or try to get more money "up front" from me - before giving files, that's on you.

How many times are you going to change your story, anybody who reads this thread knows that you are talking out your ass lol. I'm almost ready to just say I won't work on the theme, I will keep your deposit, struggle through work next week and let your reputation on this forum as a trader be ruined, because anybody who reads this won't deal with you.

Oh and I think he was saying that this was your fault, not mine. As I've followed the same procedure that I have with hundreds of people and never had a problem with any of them besides you.

Contact Omni, ask him to release my details to you, if he personally asks me, then I'll be happy to go to your children's meeting of how to deal with people. I have worked, and received 30$ for 7 hours of work, you have lied, mislead and admitted to scamming and not having the funds to pay what you offered. So I think you should re-evaluate the crack your taking as it's obviously not doing you many favors, sorry that I keep saying that but your picture just makes me giggle everytime I think of it.

Oh I got like $500 sitting in eth right now - I could give you $80 but your work doesn't deserve it and $80 was the budget for top tier work - of which I was not shown.

I don't need Omniscent's permission to get your information - this is a dispute and I will treat it as such. I have full rights to find your information and take legal action.

I have opened a deal dispute and hopefully you will in the future deal with customers more politely and make sure every body is knowledgeable about the trade/deal you are offering.

Yet you accept a ripped off theme, from a user who uses programs to give you work. My work was completely acceptable to you a few days when you couldn't afford this, in the PM's I specifically asked you if everything was okay, you simply said colors, I changed those you insisted you we're happy with it, everything you are saying right now is bullshit and guess what I don't trust you one bit, and I will not spend my free time working for a user who has no intention of paying me.. You may pay me the outstanding money and receive your product or I am done.. This is my last reply as you are honestly pissing me off and after a week at work I don't need your bullshit in my free time. But how can you expect for someone to continue working on a project that you accused them of 'ripping'? Not only that but you expect him to host the theme for you when you said it yourself, you know how easy it is to rip a theme? Why would anyone take that risk after working on it?

Personally speaking i think he should just setup a Join.me and let you check out the theme - that way there's no risk of his work being stolen. Then have a MM hold the remaining funds and once its ready you get the theme and he gets the money.

The main issue seems to be OP asking for more money, Phixel should just finish the theme and then ask for payment - worst comes to worst he keeps the $30 and sells the theme in the marketplace; a win/win situation.

I paid $30 up front - what else do you want from me? I asked you to change colors to fuck with you, i'll admit that.

Outstanding money? I still have received no files. You pay an amount up front then pay the rest after the work is completed. You yourself admit neither hosting is paid for nor the site is complete.

Refund and go our separate ways or let this continue - that's on you. At this point the $20 offer for completion of work (without hosting) is off the table.

You dont understand, he was happy with what I showed him I have done 7 hours of work. Once the full payment is sent I will set everything up for him and finish up anything he asked for, have you actually read the fucking PM's where he said everything was great, this guy is a fucking joke, he has no intention of paying me, I am not working for nothing, If I create the theme I will not sell it, I don't do that, I do custom themes for users. That is it. It is all I have ever done.

All you people saying this is any way my fault are just being twisted by his lies, he has changed his story over 5 times, first it was because it was ripped then he had no money, then he had 20$ then he had 50$ now he's rich and sending everybody money, he is a joke. It's simple. He sends me $50 I complete the work and I never deal with the idiot again, or he sends nothing I keep the deposit and we split.. Why do I keep the deposit? Because he is buying my time with this deposit, that is why I request one. 7 Hours isn't worth 30$? It is not my fault he chose to back out of this deal, I did not initiate this, he did.

Yes he should complete the work.
Yes I paid him $30 up front.
No I haven't received any files.

I did however say I was willing to pay UPTO $80 total as that was the budget - I would not have given him less than $60 but at this point I don't need the theme yet I am offering him $20 just to shut his mouth and give me the theme.

I have it all sorted myself which cost $5 for better quality than what he offered.

I continue to believe that paying up front an amount is to provide a good healthy up front minimum 50% of total job cost which I was projecting to be $60-$80.

Like for real, even if he wrote all the code himself and made his own shit for the forum - and didn't know about the theme being free, that isn't why I haven't paid him.

The argument is

"Do I have to pay my entire budget for work that isn't up to scratch?"

"Do I have to pay him a deposit up front, then another deposit before he finishes the work while I haven't received anything but a screenshot?"

In all seriousness, I was mad because you honestly upset me. I did nothing wrong, yet you played me and then tried to flip this on me, like I knew you would and it's sad really. The offer is still there, but it won't be after tonight as I have a job I do in real life, if you had sent the money the website would have been up by tomorrow night, and there is absolutely nothing wrong with the theme you are just using that as an excuse, let's be real.

I offered money for a job - you didn't complete the job but tried scamming me out of more funds. The theme is free and the work you did was no where near complete yet you assume I am just going to pay you early because you make up some sob story about needing the funds.

My website is already up and running -

The theme is not free, MY THEME was made by me, all by me are you retarded or something? You were happy, when it came to paying you were uninterested, I can finish the theme and you will like it, but you do not want to, you are cheap, and a scammer.

I am not cheap and not a scammer - I give away hundreds a week to users on here and was happy to go first with half the payment before you pulled this garbage.

How dare you -

Deleted the theme, you're no longer worth my time. I gave you a chance, and now hundreds of users will know you are a scammer, proof is on the thread that the theme is custom, and with all of the proof I posted against you I know nothing will happen to me, as I am not in the wrong, thanks. You paid for my time, and even at that $30 is worth no-where near what I did for you. This is your loss, and mine. I just requested a rep kill. Just for you.

Sick of users thinking my status on the forum is judged by reputation.

I just requested a permanent ban, if Omniscient has the time to read and judge this thread. I don't know if he will. I know he's busy. But I'm far from happy and I don't want to be around users like you. I used to love this forum. But I'm sure he has the time to click the ban button.

Thanks, this will be my last post.

1. Mr Robot has agreed to pay you in full when the work was done, you've refused. You even refused to refund him when he asked.

2. He has paid for half of the agreed upon budget before you even started working on it. Nobody does that here.

3. Nobody cares about his forum status, awards and rep mean NOTHING here.

4. Why would you think he wouldn't pay, after accusing people of dickriding for money, obviously he has the funds for it and has even told you he would pay you when the work was done AS YOU AGREED TO. Stop contradicting yourself.

5. Quit telling people to re-read the thread, you're a dipshit.

Too much bull shit to read, however I will say this.

Time = $

If you have someone do something for you aka invest THEIR time, then you OWE them the money for it. Of course if the customer isn't satisfied with the final delivery, either these things should have been agreed upon before the project was even initiated, but if not, then they should try to clear their differences now and perhaps you as the customer can tell him why you didn't like it and what changes you'd want.

Since he did invest his time, believing he'll be paid a specific amount, him not getting that time

EVEN though the time was invested is a scam in my opinion. However, I'd still be cautious when I use the word scam because it's clearly just a misunderstanding and not an actual scam.

I have read every single post on this thread and still stand by the fact that you renaming elements, class', styles, properties.. whatever the hell you want to call it - is not custom. If you state it's all custom and not a single piece of code was copied, you still coded the design to be exactly the same as the free released one in which is just a more fancier version of directly ripping it and calling it yours. That is poor practice by someone who calls themselves a web developer.

Are you mental? This is what he requested? And none of the code was copied, lol.

TYLER - November 19, 2016, 11:14 pm

After doing a 30(ish) minute join.me session and still watching with Phixel with what Mr. Robot requested, I can definitely say this is feasible. What was done was that Phixel took a standard base template he created for another forum I'm assuming and actually implemented the requested style by Mr. Robot to that base. This is exactly what Mr. Robot requested in such that he wanted it to be a similar template to the Ribil / HACKD theme he sent to Phixel, but not the same. As demonstrated on join.me, Phixel has completely redesigned one of his base themes into what Mr. Robot asked for, but using his own framework. I can vouch that the code is not the one from the free released template that I and many others accused Phixel of doing.

This being said, the mentioning of the free template is completely out of this picture as if Mr. Robot wanted that theme, he could have easily downloaded it himself. But, because the code is not the code provided in that free template, Phixel is not in the wrong as he is personally writing the code and modifications to Mr. Robot's initial request and simply using an existing template as his framework which is a standard practice by many theme developers. Also, Phixel initially messed up the template he had for Mr. Robot due to frustration I'm assuming and decided to start from scratch on join.me and develop from there and it's actually turning out exactly how Mr. Robot requested.

Conclusion:

The $30 deposit should be kept by Phixel because he has spent the time to do what Mr. Robot has requested but because that same template he wanted recreated is also free, the assumption is now that Phixel has just copied the code over and called it his; this is not the case. I suggest Mr. Robot to pay the remaining after Phixel can come up with the finished product and shown to Mr. Robot before the remaining payment is made if Phixel wishes to still work for Mr. Robot. However, requesting the remaining payment is not necessary until there is 100% finished work to Mr. Robot's standards and is ready to be sent once the remaining payment is received. If either one of you are hesitant, then use a middleman and close both reports as resolved. I don't feel bad if $30 is lost in this case due to there being actual work done but Mr. Robot refusing it or making excuses.

I do apologize to Phixel for assuming and jumping to conclusion. However, Phixel, you do have to realize where I and everyone else stand as you were not willing to prove us otherwise until this got taken too far. I have fixed my rep for Phixel to +3 as I can say that this work is legitimate and custom to what Mr. Robot wanted. If neither of you wish to figure something out to resolve this, Mr. Robot, you have no reason to call him a scammer for keeping the $30 as the purpose of it is to not have someone request his work then waste time.

Please note that this is from me not knowing either one of these members until running across this thread. I am not on either side as I think both are equally wrong when it comes to handling this type of situation.

I think OP mentioned that he indeed was in need of money that week for whatever the reason may be and sometimes you just need money whatever the amount for whatever you need it for. I don't think it's fair to judge OP being upset about wasting his time based on the sum or his need for it whatever the amount may be. Honestly I've been more upset over less. It's the principle. It's disrespect. I wouldn't be cool with it, nor would half of you, so fairly I don't think the amount matters in judging him. I don't agree with OP's behavior though I already stated that. Last post I am making in regards to this as it's become utter bullshit - When I state the facts OP backs down. 3 users who I have given neutral rep to in the past(including obli) have decided to not see the situation for what it is and be biased.

Just because a user has reputation and people who can view a situation for what it is, doesn't mean they are instantly wrong and the fact assholes like you OP can make people feel that way is absolutely ridiculous.

I asked you OP to answer some simple questions earlier in the thread which you wouldn't. I have the money to pay you what ever the fuck I want to pay you for the job and no, I didn't pull a Mark -

He never said budget which is why he refunded me and the threads are now gone. I specifically stated budget as that was what was asked for. The questions are simple OP.

Do you have $30 I sent you.

Do I have any files from you.

Is the website made 100% before you asked for more money.

Is paying $30 up front(more than 40%) without any work being then being asked for the rest fair in a working situation?

Did you ask what my BUDGET was to which I responded $80

I don't care what you do with the site now you have made it. A few pages back and via PM you said you deleted all the files - guess you were talking shit there too?

It's not about whether you ripped it or not - It's about you taking my money and giving me a screenshot in return. Why the hell would anyone trust you after that? 0 proof of the site being done, 0 proof of the product I pay for. I paid at least 40% up front to ensure you were happy to get paid, even quoting and asking for my budget. This is not how any deal works.

This will be taken offsite from here on in and will deal with you accordingly. You have my money and have yet to prove any work to be done.

I asked for my money back as this is a blatant rip off - At this point you took my money, whether you worked on your own product or not, you have my money and I have nothing in return. I am not paying you for services that "you spent time on".

How about I open a hack any website service for $8k, then take $300 off customers then reply the next day and say,, oh sorry I already spent time on looking at it - i'm keeping the $300 because I wasted my time.

I have told you, you can keep that $30, complete the theme and I will pay you $20 more - you can even sell the theme and make more if you want.

I have also told you that if you don't do that, and I still receive no files, I will request a refund. That's only fair as right now any tom dick and harry could do this exact same scam as you and it would be OK because the person you scammed has high rep - so you can just claim people were dick riding?

Not the case at all - it doesn't matter if it's ripped at the end of the day. The job wasn't completed and I paid $30 up front. I am not paying the rest until I receive the files.

I also stated budget unlike Mark as the OP asked what my budget was for getting the site done.

I have no issue paying him $50 total but the job was not complete nor have I received any files/seen any besides a single screenshot. I do not think his work is worth the full budget of $80 at the point in which he requested more money. He should complete the work and get paid for the job or ask for money, complete the job and request the rest - not expect the full amount without me ensuring the product I was paying for was up to standard.

I went to IHOP with a friend the other night. I ordered a 3 stack of pancakes and when I got them they were burned and quite tough. I was unsatisfied. I asked the waitress for a new order and she brought new ones, which I paid for. I didn't pay for 2 orders of pancakes, I paid for one (the one I was satisfied with). Listen. Mr. Robot no matter how trusted did attempt too scam me. I completed the theme in his eyes and he said it was great, he then continued to ignore me for a few days, I then asked if everything was okay, he said he was involved in earthquakes and he couldn't afford too pay, thus I stopped working on the theme, he then continued to ignore me for another week, after multiple PM's to him, he then said he wasn't willing to pay because the theme was ripped, and he got the theme for free, I proved the theme was not ripped, and now he is saying I did not complete the work. I have done absolutely nothing out of protocol, I just refuse to finish the work based on his word, as he has lied on this thread alone multiple times, and I have proven he has lied. So let me make this clear, I will not be continuing work on theme unless the $50 owed is paid. Once paid I will complete this theme, his word alone means nothing. He will find another reason to create drama, and I was more than hesitant to make this post, I gave him almost two weeks, yet he mislead and attempted to scam me on the low.

(Nov 20, 2016 12:14 AM)TYLER Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) After doing a 30(ish) minute join.me session and still watching with Phixel with what Mr. Robot requested, I can definitely say this is feasible. What was done was that Phixel took a standard base template he created for another forum I'm assuming and actually implemented the requested style by Mr. Robot to that base. This is exactly what Mr. Robot requested in such that he wanted it to be a similar template to the Ribil / HACKD theme he sent to Phixel, but not the same. As demonstrated on join.me, Phixel has completely redesigned one of his base themes into what Mr. Robot asked for, but using his own framework. I can vouch that the code is not the one from the free released template that I and many others accused Phixel of doing.

This being said, the mentioning of the free template is completely out of this picture as if Mr. Robot wanted that theme, he could have easily downloaded it himself. But, because the code is not the code provided in that free template, Phixel is not in the wrong as he is personally writing the code and modifications to Mr. Robot's initial request and simply using an existing template as his framework which is a standard practice by many theme developers. Also, Phixel initially messed up the template he had for Mr. Robot due to frustration I'm assuming and decided to start from scratch on join.me and develop from there and it's actually turning out exactly how Mr. Robot requested.

Conclusion:

The $30 deposit should be kept by Phixel because he has spent the time to do what Mr. Robot has requested but because that same template he wanted recreated is also free, the assumption is now that Phixel has just copied the code over and called it his; this is not the case. I suggest Mr. Robot to pay the remaining after Phixel can come up with the finished product and shown to Mr. Robot before the remaining payment is made if Phixel wishes to still work for Mr. Robot. However, requesting the remaining payment is not necessary until there is 100% finished work to Mr. Robot's standards and is ready to be sent once the remaining payment is received. If either one of you are hesitant, then use a middleman and close both reports as resolved. I don't feel bad if $30 is lost in this case due to there being actual work done but Mr. Robot refusing it or making excuses.

I do apologize to Phixel for assuming and jumping to conclusion. However, Phixel, you do have to realize where I and everyone else stand as you were not willing to prove us otherwise until this got taken too far. I have fixed my rep for Phixel to +3 as I can say that this work is legitimate and custom to what Mr. Robot wanted. If neither of you wish to figure something out to resolve this, Mr. Robot, you have no reason to call him a scammer for keeping the $30 as the purpose of it is to not have someone request his work then waste time.

Please note that this is from me not knowing either one of these members until running across this thread. I am not on either side as I think both are equally wrong when it comes to handling this type of situation.

I completed the theme in his eyes and he said it was great, he then continued to ignore me for a few days, I then asked if everything was okay, he said he was involved in earthquakes and he couldn't afford too pay, thus I stopped working on the theme, he then continued to ignore me for another week, after multiple PM's to him, he then said he wasn't willing to pay because the theme was ripped, and he got the theme for free, I proved the theme was not ripped, and now he is saying I did not complete the work. I have done absolutely nothing out of protocol, I just refuse to finish the work based on his word, as he has lied on this thread alone multiple times, and I have proven he has lied. So let me make this clear, I will not be continuing work on theme unless the $50 owed is paid. Once paid I will complete this theme, his word alone means nothing. He will find another reason to create drama, and I was more than hesitant to make this post, I gave him almost two weeks, yet he mislead and attempted to scam me on the low.

He is a scammer and if you put up with his constant lies and attempts at ruining my reputation for his own safety, you would also be angry. He has openly lied with zero proof.

How this will be resolved; you send me what you owe me, the original amount. I re-make the theme today and we end this drama today, if people cannot read the thread do not fucking comment, because you have zero knowledge of how innocent I truly am, Tyler was siding with Robot at the start, until I showed him PM's and the website, check the thread for proof, You guys need to take the time out to read if you think you deserve a place to post, it's all I ask.

Stop attempting to theorize this situation, he is a paying customer who has attempted to scam me, mislead me, lied to me, and is using his status' on this forum to fool others into thinking he is correct, back anything against me up with fact and I will self ban, as stated before, but you cannot so leave this thread and yes, this thread will be open until I am paid.

It has been 9 days since payment, yet you say "another week".

You are not getting off that easy. I did way more than 30$ worth of work, you theme was almost completed, your said yourself you liked it, asked me to change things, then all of this happened. So no, I will not be re-selling the theme, I will not be accepting the 30$ as the total amount as it is not what we agreed, this will be open. As proven above, I said above or equal to according to the quality of the work. Your quality is garbage and you definitely need to rethink your life choices.

I don't want the theme anymore and have offered you $50 total for the job which is 60ish% of my budget for the site. Did you not read anything in this thread? I took 30-45 minutes watching Phixel on join.me simply because I was initially taking Mr. Robot's side when it surfaced that the theme was released for free. However, during the join.me session, nowhere did Phixel take any source code from that template at all as it was all custom work based off his own framework. Go on about "a measly $30" but best bet that if you were scammed $30, you'd be making a DD as well. It's not the point that it's $30, it's the point that there was extreme amounts of time wasted and also bullshit spewing from a broke persons mouth. It's also the principle.

Who on here aside from a broke person like you sets a budget then wants to pay $50 less than what their budget is. You don't get to decide what you want to pay when the job is done because you don't actually have $80 to spend and wanted to use that to get someone on board to do your lazy work.

I can't hit up a web developer and say I have a $1,000 budget, he completes the work beyond what good words can explain, then tell him "Oh, I'd like to pay $300 for that because that's what I think it's worth." No, you're wasting time and making yourself look like a fool.

I took 30-45 minutes watching Phixel on join.me simply because I was initially taking Mr. Robot's side when it surfaced that the theme was released for free. However, during the join.me session, nowhere did Phixel take any source code from that template at all as it was all custom work based off his own framework. Go on about "a measly $30" but best bet that if you were scammed $30, you'd be making a DD as well. It's not the point that it's $30, it's the point that there was extreme amounts of time wasted and also bullshit spewing from a broke persons mouth. It's also the principle.

I'm leaving this post open simply to keep people informed and not let it die, I don't expect to be paid and I don't expect a resolve. Thus the only thing I gain from this report is to leave it open and see his reputation ruined as the thread gets bigger, it's the least I deserve.

But thank you again for last night and your kind words today, it's upsetting that people post on these threads because of not reading or past experience with this delusional scammer.

I'd also like to say that it's fucking hilarious, look at the amount of people who say he is wrong, over 80% of users on this thread agree with me, yet somehow my reputation has been edited numerous times, and he has only gained reputation since the report. This is the result of how this forum works, and why I was hesitant to even open this report.

You keep using the fact that you set yourself an $80 budget and that Phixel is wrong for requesting that amount yet you claim you were willing to pay more than $80. Yes I set an $80 budget, clearly an amount I can up to depending on the quality of work as described in our PMS.

I was shown quality that was not up to scratch however he was asking for more funds before he had finished the job.

Even if OP is autistic and can't read or use his brain to understand sentences, if he assumed $80 was the amount, which is his fault even though he agreed to it being the budget - then I gave him almost 50% up front.

Then without any proof of concept, working templates or files - he wants the rest of the funds.

I think you're the autistic one and doesn't understand what a budget is and how it works when you hire someone. You don't choose how much you want to pay within the budget based on how you feel the job was. You hired Phixel to develop you a MyBB theme, and now host the website for you as well. You gave him the budget of $80 which means that's the amount you're willing to spend. That being said the amount Phixel decided on was within your set budget therefore that's what you're expected to pay. However, because you don't think that the work is worth $80, you're blaming the person you hired to do your lazy work because you don't want to pay the rest of the money. He told you he'd gladly finish the work, correct anything, and send it your way once you pay him. However, you're not going to do that and continuously say you have nothing (which you don't because you only paid a deposit) and that's nobody's fault but yours. You put a deposit down as a security for Phixel in situations like this when you're being a broke bitch and backing out of paying for work you want done but can't afford.

Hell, I wouldn't even take $80 for the work you requested. You wanted a MyBB theme developed, implemented to the forum software itself, then hosted online for you to milk off of for $80? You're lucky he asked for $80 for this job to begin with.

That's not how it works. The security deposit of $30 was given for the time Phixel is putting in to get the task done. Once the task is done and everything is corrected, the buyer then sends the remainder of the money to receive the completed work. He had the work done, but Mr. Robot decided it wasn't up to his standards therefore isn't being refunded the $30. Also, disregard the idiots who haven't read anything here but put their 2c in; the work isn't ripped at all.

You are exactly right with this post.

I believe you when you say it isn't ripped - we aren't talking about that.

The security deposit of $30 is understandable and I respect that however that was not mentioned at any point during our discussion. If I am to assume that, it makes me as bad as the OP. I state what I mean with nothing to be left between the lines.

I was happy to give a total of $60 for the completed project of the allotted $80 budget without hosting. I then changed that to $50 due to the way Phixel was responding.

I would have been happy to pay for only the theme and nothing else at $60 total once it was complete but OP has admitted several times in this thread he asked for the rest of the funds before it was 100% completed.

I have no issue paying like this

$30 up front security deposit.

$30 for finished job not up to standard ($20 short of budget) paid after the job is complete with proof.

The job was once again, not completed 100%

So after re-reading your reply, what the fuck are you on? He showed you a couple hours editing and making it from scratch but admitted in this thread numerous times that it wasn't complete?

Again, you're wasting someones time when you're setting a budget you're not willing to pay without asking for more than what your allotted budget is set to. Any normal person being hired to do a web development job and given a decent budget they find right would obviously jump on it in the understanding that you're willing to spend the budget given if necessary. Instead, you're choosing to breakdown how you want to spend the budget given based on how you feel the work was done. How come none of that breakdown you're explaining was initially given before you hired Phixel to do your work. Don't hire someone to do your lazy work if you're going to be a stingy little bitch with your money.

I can't hire you to do a logo for me and say my budget is $80 then when I see the final work, only pay $50 because that's how much I think it's worth and that I gave you a budget of $80, not what I'd really spend. He gave you your options to what you need to do to receive the finished work but at this time I don't see why he should finish your work first and then receive the money seeing as you've already wasted his time with 20+ pages of excuses for you not to pay for the work you asked for. Who's to say he finishes the work first, requests the money, then you decide you don't want to pay for it because of some other bullshit excuse. Again, time is money and you're wasting time therefore money is being lost.

PS - Instead of spending money on stupid shit, save it for the funds you're in need of that you owe in child support you never paid.

That's perfectly fine given in your last example. Unless it's what you are going to go with of course.

If you are going to go with it because it's the best made, then you would pay the amount allotted. If they are willing to make touch ups to make it up to standard, then you pay the full amount.

Right now as far as your logic goes, someone offers a budget of $500 to make a site, I make a shitty site and they are forced to pay me the full amount right?

Can clearly see who you are butt buddies with or you are just too young to understand simple business.

Again with that last argument about paying for the time - I paid him $30 up front for exactly that reason.

I have said multiple times that the site he offered was not up to standard and he was given opportunity to take that and fix what I needed fixed. That would then make the site worth the amount of the budget.

At this point, speaking to you is like speaking to a brick wall. You're a fucking moron. Go back to drinking, doing crack, begging for child support donations, and whining over something you can't afford.

Look, you need to understand the definition of the word before you try make accusations. I don't care what country you are from but a budget is exactly that.

financial estimate, financial blueprint, prediction of revenue and expenditure

OP got the original $30 for the work on the site then would have received the rest without this thread if he had completed the work and adjusted any changes once hosted and accessible. It's not that difficult to understand is it?

Again, he would have received MORE THAN $80 for the work if completed and hosted to standard.

When he PMD me asking for more funds, the site was not complete nor up to standard. Therefore meaning he had to spend more time fixing it up.

If I make a thread for a $100 budget on a logo.

"Hey guys I need a logo made with these specs (//.....//) and so forth, my budget is $100 max for it but will can go over or equal to the max amount in accordance to the quality of work done"

Right so I get a PM from you for example. I give you $30 up front for putting the time in to try create something. I don't like it and ask you to make a few changes, it's not done and you ask for the rest of the funds.

Then you open a scam report without attempting to show the results of the changes I requested or without having a chance to request changes saying I scammed you of $70.

During the thread I offer you $70 total for the job if you make those changes required because at this point you haven't completed the job, you have received the money for the time you put in.

Waiting for a result from your PM, not sure why you are still arguing if you are attempting to resolve this via PM. Once done I will post a final conclusion on the thread and it will be closed, can we stop this bullshit already.

Finally resolved, 50$ has been sent. I could rant on about another lie I dug up but instead I will close this thread and move on. <https://gyazo.com/9bd553d9afe176651bd69f8b169fad99> Does not want the theme, simply wants this report to go away, so I will continue my life and pretend this did not happen, thank you for finally resolving this Robot, but I'd just like to verify I do not take back anything I've said in this thread, I spoke facts throughout.
